

Survive & Thrive: A Journal for Medical Humanities and Narrative as Medicine

Volume 1 | Issue 1

Article 11

2014

Poem: Stfiled

Leslie C. Arnold

Lancaster General College of Nursing & Health Sciences, Larnold897@aol.com

Follow this and additional works at: https://repository.stcloudstate.edu/survive_thrive

Recommended Citation

Arnold, Leslie C. (2014) "Poem: Stfiled," Survive & Thrive: A Journal for Medical Humanities and Narrative as Medicine: Vol. 1 : Iss. 1 , Article 11.

Available at: https://repository.stcloudstate.edu/survive_thrive/vol1/iss1/11

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by theRepository at St. Cloud State. It has been accepted for inclusion in Survive & Thrive: A Journal for Medical Humanities and Narrative as Medicine by an authorized editor of theRepository at St. Cloud State. For more information, please contact rswexelbaum@stcloudstate.edu.

Poem: Stfiled

Cover Page Footnote

Stifled

My soul stands still
Captured by the swarm
Of students who painfully wrestle
To make sense of the parts and pieces
Of a day wounded by an alarm of war.

Their whispers buzz then muffle
 what matters,
As they grapple to fend off a horror
Hushing the hours
In wait of a calamity

Their innocence resounds
With a clatter of questions
To know why
Rather than why not.

By Leslie Arnold

- This poem was written while I was teaching in a high school where we had been evacuated shortly after the first plane crashed into the Twin Towers on 9/11.