IN MEMORIAM

To him who served so faithfully and so well

RESIDENT DIRECTOR

WE of the St. Cloud State Teachers, College are fortunate in having so understanding and capable a resident director as Mr. James J. Quigley. Because of the success which he has attained as a lawyer, he is able to understand the difficulties which all of us must face in launching a career.

After graduation from the University of Minnesota in 1910, Mr. Quigley began his career as traveling claim agent for the Great Northern Railway Company. In 1913 he established a practice of his own in the city of St. Cloud and was elected City Attorney for a term of office from 1915 to 1918. Later he was elected county attorney of Stearns County for a twelve year period from 1922 to 1935. During this time the reputation which he had made for himself earned Mr. Quigley an appointment to the Board of Governors of the State Bar Association from 1928 to 1930. The present Resident Director's appointment to the Teachers College Board was made by Governor Olson in 1933. In 1933 Mr. Quigley was elected president of this board.

The understanding attitude which Mr. Quigley has shown toward the college has earned for him the appreciation of the student body.

During the month of February President and Mrs. George A. Selke attended meetings of the American Association of Teachers Colleges in New Orleans, and visited twelve college campuses while on a tour which took them through thirteen states in southwestern parts of the United States and in Cuba. At the convention in New Orleans, President Selke presented a paper on health and recreational programs for Teachers Colleges. On the return trip from Cuba, Mr. and Mrs. Selke spent some time in Florida where they visited Miss Stella Root and Miss Ellen Ready in Fort Lauderdale, and spent some time at Miss Carrie Barden's citrus ranch at Mount Dora.

Miss Marie Case, Miss Carrie Hupp and Mr. A. F. Brainard represented the St. Cloud State Teachers College at the annual meeting of the Central District Physical Education Association held in Denver, Colorado from March thirty-first to April third.

* * *

The director of "Rumpelstiltskin", an operetta for juveniles, was Miss Margaret Ludwig, supervisor of music in the Riverview Training School. The production was presented by the fifth, sixth, seventh, eighth and ninth grades in the college auditorium, February nineteenth.

Mrs. Beth Garvey, dean of women, attended the National Personnel and Guidance Convention in New Orleans, Louisiana.

* * *

An article by Miss Helen Bottum was published in the Teacher's Edition of the February Child Life Magazine. It concerned an attempt by the second grade of the training school to make a magazine of their own.

* * *

Two of the year's outstanding musical performances at the college were conducted by Mr. Harvey Waugh. One was a concert given by the College Symphonic Orchestra February twenty-second and the other the annual Christmas program, which is held every year during the Yule Tide season.

Miss Myrl Carlsen and Miss Pauline Penning received mention in the December N. E. A. Journal on the Christmas Play "The Old, Old Story" of which they were co-authors.

After touring some of the European countries during the summer and fall of nineteen thirty-six, Dr. L. D. Zeleny, sociology instructor, returned to his work at the college with much interesting information on the conditions prevailing in Europe. He made detailed studies concerning the social, economic and political situations in England, Russia, Germany, and France. Other countries which he visited were Sweden, Denmark, Finland, Greece, Switzerland, and Italy.

Dr. Zeleny's textbook, Sociology, was published this winter.

Miss Esther Andreason, after seven years of service in this college left to take a position as supervisor of public health in Duluth, her home city. Taking Miss Andreasons' position is Miss Erma Burgess.

* * *

Miss Irene Helgen, formerly dean of girls at the Stillwater High School has taken Miss Ellen Ready's position as matron at Lawrence Hall.

* * *

As Mr. Alf Harbo has taken a year's leave. Miss Margaret Ludwig is now supervisor of music in the training school.

* * *

Mr. Mason Hicks, new dramatics instructor, has replaced Miss Ainslee Harris, who has accepted an honorary speech scholarship at the University of Wisconsin. Mr. Hicks has directed three plays this year, Lady of Letters, The Three Cornered Moon and Rain From Heaven.

* * *

Mr. Roland M. Torgerson has taken over the supervision of the industrial arts department.

* * *

Several of the instructors of the St. Cloud State Teachers College are at present working toward their doctors degree. They are: Richard Smith, University of Minnesota; Herbert Clugston, University of Minnesota;

E. M. Paulu, Colorado State College of Education; Clifford O. Bemis, Columbia; William Griffin, University of Iowa.

Miss Nell Boyd Taylor is the author of three publications, Playthings for Different Ages, Programs for Parents and her latest, A Bibliography on Child Development.

* * *

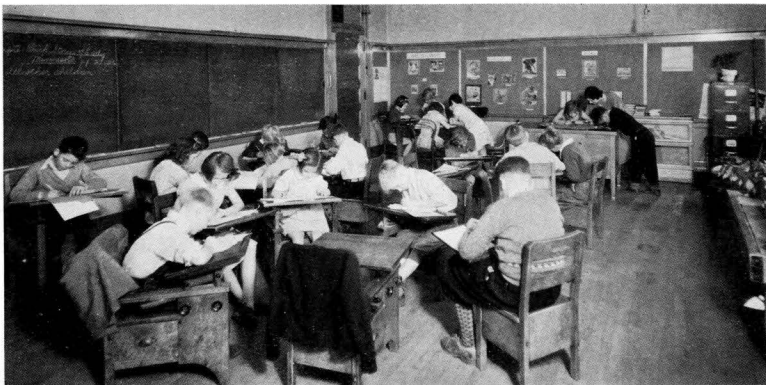

Mr. Herbert Clugston plans to go to Boulder, Colorado the first of September to continue work on his Ph. D. at the University of Colorado. As he has been granted a twelve month leave of absence from the St. Cloud State Teachers College, he hopes to complete as many of the requirements as possible necessary to secure the degree. While at the University, Mr. Clugston intends to finish the book, "Methods of Research in Education and Psychology", which he is writing in collaboration with Dr. Robert A. Davis. Mr. Clugston has received a scholarship in the college of education for the year. At the time of the termination of his leave of absence, he expects to return to the St. Cloud State Teachers College to continue teaching in the educational department.

* * *

Miss Lillian Lind, accountant at the St. Cloud State Teachers College for several years, was married during Easter vacation to Mr. Theodore F. Neils, an attorney. Mrs. Neils will continue her work at the college until someone is found to fill her position.

* * *

"Names in the Winter's Tale" was written by Mr. William Griffin for the London Times Literary Supplement. The article published raised the question of why Shakespeare in his play changed the names of the two kings in the "Winter's Tale". This study was made as a result of his work on his doctor's thesis for his Ph. D. in the University of Iowa. Mr. Griffin has also written other articles for the London review.

SOCIAL STUDIES CLASS

RIVERVIEW

RIVERVIEW, the campus training school, may well be called the center of the Saint Cloud State Teachers College, for it is here that students are given an opportunity to make practical the knowledges and technics about teaching which they have acquired from their college courses. Here they may try their skill at the vocation they have chosen to follow. Student teaching is an experience keenly anticipated by those eager to give their best to the profession. The almost ideal educational plan at Riverview provides goals toward which future teachers may strive in handling their own classes.

So that every student at Saint Cloud Teachers College may have thirty-six weeks of teaching before his graduation from the degree course, provision is made for some student teaching in the Saint Cloud Public Schools. This arrangement by which students are able to work in two school systems makes for a broader and more varied experience in teaching than would otherwise be possible.

At Riverview is offered a program more rich and meaningful than that provided in the average elementary and junior high school curriculum. Some of the class projects carried out in social studies at the laboratory school give a good illustration of how subjects may be presented in a life-like manner.

In their study of farm life, the first grade children were actually taken into the country to visit a farm. They saw how animals were cared for and crops grown. To many of the children who were unacquainted with country life, a whole new experience was opened, and to all the unit of work became more vivid. As a result of their visit the first grade built their own model farm on their class room floor.

Community life was studied by the second grade. The post office, the fire department, and other community institutions were visited. Later the children constructed a miniature post office, and carried out the activities of the post men and fire men in their play.

The tanning of a deer skin and the making of pottery just as the Indians would have made them was carried out by the third grade children in connection with their study of Indian history.

As an outgrowth of their study of Denmark the sixth grade gave an assembly in which they demonstrated the functioning of a Danish cooperative society. A study of early civilizations in history suggested the making of clay tablets in the manner of the ancient Babylonians.

In junior high school science a community health project was carried out during which, places of direct interest to the problem were visited. A very practical unit of work on child care was undertaken by the junior high school girls with the cooperation of the school nurse. Meanwhile, the boys were instructed in administering first aid.

Close cooperation between the science departments of the college and Riverview makes possible at the training school an unusually rich and varied science program.

For the work in geography a variety of materials including curios, maps, graphs, pictures and literature are used. Related materials are used at appropriate places. The first aim in geography in beginning junior high is to discover the limitations and the possibilities of the children and to give corresponding work. The general objective of geography as taught at Riverview is to help make better adjustments.

A great deal of incentive is provided for English composition by the production of a school newspaper, "Riverview Currents". This piece of work is undertaken by the fifth and sixth grades once or twice a year. In preparation for putting out their newspaper the children study some of the elements of journalism and make an examination of daily papers to find what kinds of news are included. Their paper includes stories of general school news, some short stories, poems, personal experiences, editorials, and an interview. All grades do some work on the paper, and every one in the sixth grade contributes something. The newspaper project is the best possible means of interesting pupils to whom composition does not appeal, and of bringing out the abilities of those who are talented.

To teach children something of the beauty of sound and to develop a sense of rhythm, a relatively new venture has been undertaken at the training school—the organization of a verse speaking choir. The objective of the choir is primarily enjoyment, but natural outcomes are improved speaking quality, better enunciation and articulation. The regular program given by the choir in the spring included "Hiawatha", adapted as a choric drama by Agnes Curren Hamm, and part one of Vachel Lindsay's "The Congo".

Often class work at Riverview leads to the presentation of assembly programs so that the school may learn what different work grades have been doing. Whenever the general college program at convocation is of interest to the children they are invited to attend. Thus they saw moving pictures of the Pinchot South Sea Expedition and heard an illustrated talk on deep sea diving and sea life. Entertainment is sometimes provided for the Riverview children alone, as when an animal show was brought to the school last winter.

"RUMPELSTILTSKIN"

Dramatic work at Riverview is not always reserved for special audiences. While working on the unfriendly feeling that had developed between the Colonies and England before the Revolutionary War, the seventh grade dramatized in their class room the three stamp act meetings. At another time they presented in dramatic form the contribution of George Rogers Clark in gaining the Northwest Territory for the United States.

Athletics at Riverview for both boys and girls include stunts, rhythm, sports tournaments, tumbling, and from the fifth grade on, a regular program of swimming. During the winter the children have the privilege of using the college toboggan slide and skating rink. The regular boys' basketball team composed of ten junior high school boys played the junior high school teams of Sauk Rapids, Waite Park, and Clear Lake.

One of the outstanding extra-curricular activities offered is participation in the school orchestra. This organization has grown to include twenty-four members, and is now beginning to purchase its own instruments. With its student director, Mr. Ralph Holter, the group made several public appearances through the year. A Christmas program was given, a concert for the P. T. A., a spring concert in May, and a program at the ninth grade graduation. In addition the group went to hear the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra in Minneapolis. This trip will probably become an annual event for the organization.

Creative music is encouraged throughout the grades. Several songs based on original poems have been composed by the Riverview children this year, one of which was printed in the College Chronicle with words and music. In addition to regular class work small ensemble groups have been developed in the fifth and sixth grades and the junior high. Next fall the combined choruses expect to give the cantata, "Legend of Sleepy Hollow" by Wilson.

Dramatic productions at the training school for the year included beautiful Christmas tableaux, a production of the well-loved children's operetta, "Rumpelstiltskin", and a presentation of the play "The Toymaker of Nuremberg" by Austin Strong, given by the ninth grade. All these productions were examples of the excellent kind of work that is being done in the campus training school.

At Riverview it is possible to give a school program that is unusually well balanced and in keeping with modern trends of education, for not only are the physical facilities at the college outstanding, but in charge of the school is a staff of supervisors expertly trained in education.

THE NURSERY PLAY ROOM

The Nursery School

IT was a happy time for the Nursery School when in October of this year it opened its doors again to the twenty little tots waiting for admission.

Through the many months following the fire the school was closed. In August a new location was found at 398 Third Avenue South, and on October fifth Open House was held. Parents, college faculty, and other interested members of the community were invited and tea was served.

The room shown in the picture is the main playroom of the new home.

As an integral part of the Department of Child Welfare, the Nursery School works in close cooperation with the other departments of the college. Its purpose is to provide an educational center for children from two to four and a half years of age, to carry on a program in parent education, and to provide observation and participation for college students enrolled in the courses in child psychology and child training. Students in other courses use the Nursery School as an observation center.

Each year since its establishment in 1929 the school has had a waiting list of applicants from which the children have been selected largely in order of application. The children come from all sections of the city.

The staff of the Nursery School consists of a director, Miss Nell Boyd Taylor; a supervisor, Miss Elinor Thompson; student assistants; and a cook. The college nurse gives her services when needed.

The Nursery School is open each week, exclusive of holidays, from Monday through Friday, with daily sessions from 8:45 A. M. to 3:30 P. M. Upon arrival in the morning each child is inspected for infectious or contagious disease, and the parent who brings the child reports any unusual incident or illness that has occurred since the child left school the day before.

After morning inspection comes play outdoors on the slide, climbing apparatus, and swings; and indoors with dolls, trains, blocks, kiddy-kars, crayons, paints, and other play materials.

Then a glass of orange juice with cod liver oil—each child waiting for his turn.

Stories, rhythms, songs . . . all about Fairyland, Little Miss Muffet and Bo-Peep, always make a good showing.

Then comes the preparation for dinner. Everyone gets cleaned up and the younger children take a short rest.

Dinner . . . always a pleasant occasion . . . the vitamins and the rest of the diet are duly respected.

Dinner over . . . twenty little faces and twenty pairs of hands are washed. That's always a big job.

After that a nice long nap for all.

Then, an afternoon lunch . . . another play period . . . and dismissal . . . "Goodbye Miss Thompson".

WOMEN'S LOUNGE ROOM

The Women's Lounge

AT the instigation of the Women's Self-Government Association and with the financial promotion of the college Works Progress Administration program, hopes for a feminine lounging room at the college were realized this year in the creation of the Women's Lounge.

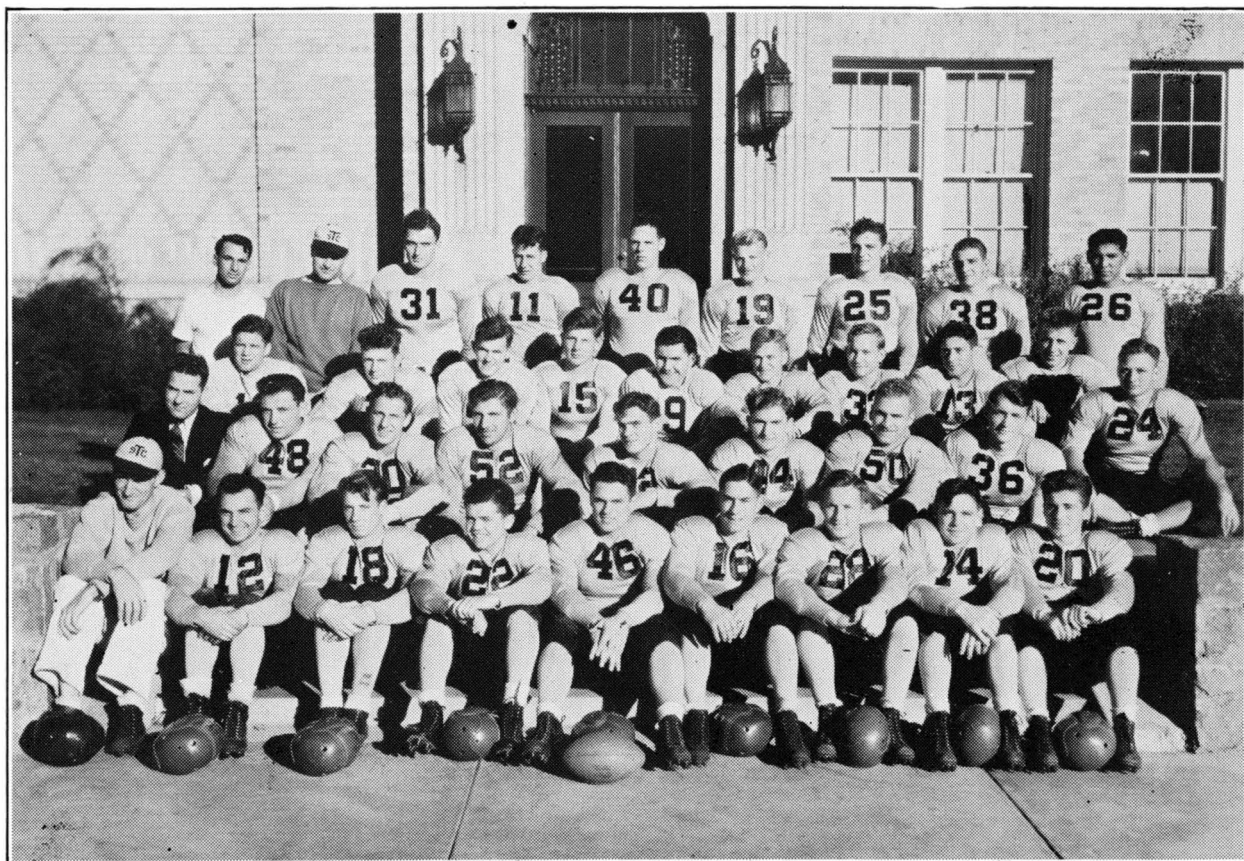

The room was decorated according to the practical plans of a W. S. G. A. planning committee and by an art committee headed by Miss Pauline Penning, art supervisor. Modernistic chairs, tables, screens, waste baskets, book cases, and couches of Art Club design, have made it possible for the women of the college to study, read, and chat in an informal and pleasant atmosphere. An indirect lighting arrangement has aided in giving the room a restful appearance. The Venetian blinds aid much in making the room private and yet light at all times.

Contributions from the 1935-36 senior graduating class and from the seven women's societies as well as money earned by the W. S. G. A. Board through selling candy at basketball games have made possible such additions as parlor ferns, table covers, automatic-starting electric clock, and a prescribed indirect lighting floor lamp.

Besides providing comfort for those who are mentally fatigued, some use the room for reading. Using this room for study only is discouraged. Plans are being made to provide a catalogued library of books for the use of the women. This will be made possible through the loaning of books to the lounge by Miss Helen Hill and Mrs. Beth Garvey of the faculty.

Another feature of the room is the student hostess that is present in the lounge during each class period of the day and during the noon hour. These hostesses have aided in establishing intimate and friendly associations. Florence Schaum, as lounge and hostess chairman, has efficiently carried out this program. She has been assisted by the following girls who have served for six weeks periods during the year: Alice Cary, Arlene Walker, Jule Christopherson, Florence Avery, Barbara Theisen, Vera Lacher, Wanda Christopherson, Marion Strand, Vivian Lang, Eunice DeLay, Donata Fleming, Lois Wirtanen, Jane Trevarrow, Marjorie Broderick, Helen Curry, Mary Hamilton, Flora Cochran, Sylvia Johnson, Joyce Halgren, Hazel McClintick, and Georgine Johnson. The Board plans to continue this service during the summer session under the direction of Lois Zittleman, during the first session, and Helen Curry, during the second session. It is predicted that the lounge will be one of the most popular places on the campus.

Second Row—Olson (trainer), Captain Debolock, Champá, Beseman, Miller, Rengel, Olson, Baron, Potthoff.

Football Season

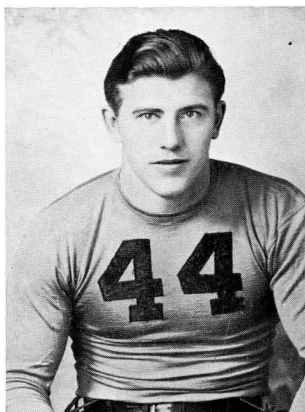

THE tale of an uncrossed goal-line! That in brief, is the story of the nineteen thirty-six football season; the story of the greatest team in the history of the St. Cloud Teachers College. Coach of the Red and Black for the second year, Warren Kasch took his forty candidates, including nine lettermen, to a secluded practice site on the T. C. islands, hatched the plot to capture the W. S. T. C. championship, and placed an invincible team on the gridiron. The Kasch machine made a perfect record by not only winning every conference game but by holding the opposing elevens scoreless in four thrill-packed tussles.

Three pre-season scrimmages shaped the Peds for their conference grind. Two of these were impressive victories over State College teams—a 12-0 victory over the Macalester gridders and a 20-0 win over Hamline University.

In the last practice tilt, Captain Debolock and Jay Johnstone led the team to an apparent 7-0 victory over the Eau Clair Teachers. with only a few minutes of play remaining, the Wisconsin team managed to complete a forward pass over the heads of the T. C. reserves, ending the game in a 7-7 deadlock.

The Kaschmen opened their conference season on October tenth, by invading the camp of the strong Duluth team. Spurred by the plunging Debolock, the smaller T. C. underdogs smashed through the heavy Bulldog line to score a single winning touchdown. St. Cloud's 7-0 victory spoiled the Duluth homecoming and gave the Kaschmen an auspicious start toward the conference title.

Rigged out in flashy gold and black uniforms, the undefeated Peds lined up for the colorful homecoming game against the Bemidji Beavers. In a stormy game, symbolic of the brilliance and emotional glamour of the "Storm Bemidji" homecoming theme, the Green and White title threat held the heavier and faster T. C. Eleven to a single touchdown. Always playing a heads-up game, the Red and Black forward wall smashed down the opposing ball carriers and cleared the path for a tense victory.

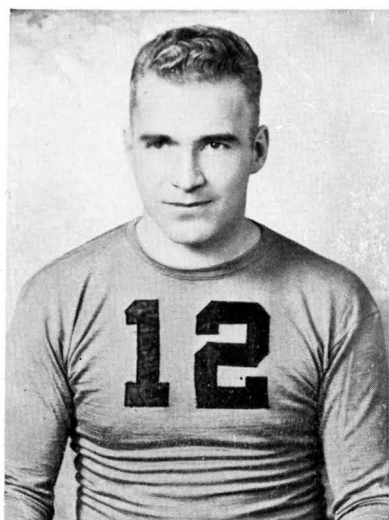

Winona next met defeat at the hands of the penant-mad Peds on October twenty-third. Opening their entire series of power, speed, and strategy plays, the Kaschmen rolled up a twenty-one point total over the dazed Purple and White. Curran hot-footed it forty-five yards for the first touchdown; Johnstone sprinted eighty one yards for the second, and Debolock added the third score by nipping open the Winona line. The T. C. goal line was still uncrossed.

In their unforgettable finale on October thirty-first, the Peds, met and defeated Moorhead College, the nineteen thirty-five co-champs. Entering the game with a clean slate, the Dragons boasted of the strongest offense in the conference, while the Peds uncrossed goal line testified their defensive power. The bruising battle which resulted was another T. C. victory, and it marked the first shut-out for the Northern eleven. Captain Debolock set the stage for his team's lone score by punting the Dragons into "Coffin Corner". Here, a blocked punt gave the ball to the Red and Black, who sent fullback Debolock over the zero stripe. As in every game, helmetless Buck Beseman lionized the tackling duties, breaking up Moorhead's offensive threats by nailing the ball carriers behind the line of scrimmage.

The Moorhead game marked the culmination of a perfect season: a conference record showing a total of forty points scored by the Teacher's eleven against their opponents and an uncashed goal line with no defeats and no tie games. The work of Coach Kasch and his assistant, Ed. Colletti, with a great football squad brought the undisputed championship to the Teachers College. Four of the outstanding players were honored by receiving positions on the first all-conference team.

They are as follows: John Debolock at fullback, Bernard Olson at guard, Otto Beseman at tackle and Fay Lang at end. For Buck, this was a repetition of his nineteen thirty-five honors; for Olson and Lang, the distinction came for their first season's work on the Ped eleven.

In reviewing the football prospects for the coming season, Coach Kasch stressed the fact that the brilliant record of last season must be disregarded and attention centered upon building up an entirely new team. The Kaschmen will start the 1937 season with three all-conference men in the lineup: "Buck" Beseman of Swanville, tackle; John Debolock of Aurora, fullback; and Bernard Olson of Two Harbors, guard. However, the loss of nine seniors of last year's title winning machine will necessitate intensive drilling for replacements. Outstanding graduates who are lost to the Red and Black include Fay Lang of Alexandria, all conference end; Richard Winter, St. Cloud; Tom Perpich, Crosby, George Saunders, St. Cloud; Joe Smith, Princeton; John Rengel, St. Cloud; John Curran, Norwood; Lloyd Bredin, Muskegon Heights, Michigan; and Clarence Hawkford, New Richland, Wisconsin.

At the annual football banquet on December 21, Otto "Buck" Beseman and Jay Johnstone were proclaimed the co-captains of the 1937 Ped gridiron squad. Johnstone, the regular left half on the undefeated T. C. aggregation, easily gained a position on the mythical all-conference second team and will do his share to head the offensive drives from the backfield. Teamed with him is co-captain Beseman, twice all-conference tackle, whose smashing defensive work as well as his aid in opening the way for T. C. touchdowns will again be the foundation for another great team. Another line bulwark is Howard George, an equally good offensive and defensive center, who gained a berth on the N. T. C. A. C. alternate football team. Other lettermen who will comprise the squad next season are: Ludwig Champa of Chisholm, guard; Louis Erickson of Ironton, guard; Harold Jacobs of St. Cloud, quarterback; Willard Kottke of North St. Paul, end; Walter Miller of Sauk Rapids, end; Marvin Potthoff of St. Cloud, end; Joe Odanovich of Crosby, end; Casper Rock of Cass Lake, guard; and Frank Rukavina of Chisholm, quarterback. Several veteran members of the 1936 squad who will be eligible for conference competition include Wayne Bailey, quarterback; John Schrom, halfback; Burton Bourelle, tackle; Al Pagenkopf, halfback; Edward O'Malley, halfback; Ira Baron, end.

The football schedule calls for seven games, five of which will be played here. Opening the season is a home game with the Eau Claire Peds. Then follows the first conference game, Duluth being the opponents. A short trip to Bemidji for another regular tilt and then the big homecoming game with Winona. The last conference match is at Moorhead T. C. Two post-season games—one with Hibbing and the other with St. John's—will conclude the schedule.

FALL CALENDAR

SEPTEMBER

7. School opens. "Everybody happy?"
8. Big Sisters get little sisters.
9. When will work begin? (Not that we care.)
10. Work begins.
13. Forty football players turn out for practice. Championship hopes run high.
14. Beginning of the "War of the Green Caps". Threatens to surpass Spanish Revolution.
17. "War" still continuing unabated. Fatalities negligible.
19. Peds defeat Macalester, 12-0. So far so good.
20. "War of the Green Caps" abating. Some talk of peace settlement. Upper classmen remain adamant.
23. Voters Club has tea in Social Room. No political arguments reported.

IN the second year of its reorganization the Student Council of the St. Cloud State Teachers College has brought more centralized control and greater efficiency in action to student government.

Mary Stewart's orientation committee successfully opened the business of the council. This committee inaugurated an identification program for freshmen by requiring the wearing of caps and badges.

Homecoming, directed by John Bensen, was the second successful undertaking of the council. Lorna Sarff, as decorations chairman of the council, successfully converted the school bus into a dirigible, "The Flying Cloud", symbol of progress and the theme of the 1936 homecoming. The publicity committee, headed by Marva Maxwell, secured extensive publicity for this event.

Tore Allegrezza, president of the council, was elected delegate to the N. S. F. A. convention in New York city. To this body Mr. Allegrezza carried the report of the close organization existing between the council and its various sectional boards. From the convention he brought many suggestions—on three of which the group has spent much work and investigation—the organization of a student court, publication of a student handbook, and a plan for a partially student-controlled activity fee.

All other members of the council have worked their respective committees to make this a successful year. Alec Lobas has been in charge of social activities; Wanda Christopherson, organizations; Mildred Biorn, point system; Edward LaMuth, entertainments; Leif Hougen, curriculum; Freeman Wold, student welfare; Raymond Freund, campus planning; Joe Odanovich, athletics; Al Skudlarek, library. Other members included Mabel Erickson, representing the governing board, and Fay Lang, the fraternity board.

The executive board acted as a medium between the council and the administration. This board was made up of the officers of the council and Paul Bixby, senior class, Julius Whiting, junior class, Louis Erickson, sophomore class, and James Robb, freshman class.

College Chronicle

Editor-in-chief.....Marva Maxwell

Business Manager.....Howard Johnson

THE College Chronicle presents a bi-monthly picture of campus life, is an exponent of high journalist principles and is the college advertising medium.

The editorial staff organized the governing editorial principles which regulate the controversial campus questions as presented by the Chronicle. Miss Helen Hill, Miss Amy Dale, and Mr. Richard Smith, acting advisors, gave suggestions, criticisms and loyal support to the workers on the staff.

Meetings were held regularly every second and fourth Monday of the month throughout the year. Journalistic talks and instructions were the general work of the meetings.

The Minnesota College Press Convention at Northfield was attended by Marva Maxwell editor, and Richard Meinz, sports editor. Marva Maxwell, who directed the activities of the well-organized staff, was elected secretary of the M. C. P. A. As a member of the M. C. P. A. the Chronicle will be host at the 1937 Convention in St. Cloud together with the news staff of St. Benedict's and St. Johns Colleges.

Howard Johnson, heading the business staff, aided by Viola Nelson, advertising manager, and Wanda Christopherson, circulation manager, worked with their assistants in making the Chronicle a possible publication.

Alice Nolan, news editor for the entire year, directed her reporters along their continuous road searching for news.

Deadlines, interviews, assignments, meetings all demand that a great many workers spend time and effort to give the students, alumni, and faculty a current summary of life on the St. Cloud Teachers College campus.

College Symphonic Band

President.....	Edwin Johnson
Vice President.....	Arnold Woestehoff
Secretary-Treasurer.....	Betty Weaver
Manager and Librarian.....	Julius Whitinger

UNDER the guidance of a new director the college Symphonic Band has achieved noteworthy prominence among the organizations on the campus. Mr. Hartley Schultz, whose first year as director of this group has been an exceedingly successful one, sought during the year not only to produce a fine musical organization, but also to make the college student-body band-conscious. That the new director and his band succeeded admirably was attested by the popularity of the organization during the fall and winter sports seasons, and by the enthusiasm with which the several formal concerts were received. Among the most noteworthy accomplishments of this group during the fall quarter were the marching demonstrations staged for homecoming and for the various football games played at the J. C. Brown field.

At an early concert the band presented a program of symphonic music, including a modern composition in the jazz idiom which was enthusiastically received. Later concerts during the year included an off-campus appearance sponsored by the St. Cloud Public Schools which added to the prestige of the ensemble. Among the spring appearances were a number of open-air concerts on the campus.

Aside from its contributions to the college entertainment program, the college band serves as an indispensable part of the music department, and provides an opportunity for music students to gain valuable experience in the performance and appreciation of fine music literature.

College Symphony Orchestra

President.....	Betty Weaver
Secretary-Treasurer.....	Evelyn Larsen
Librarian.....	George Regis

UNDER the baton of its new conductor, Mr. Harvey Waugh, the college symphony orchestra is fulfilling in no small way the promise it showed in its first concert of the season.

The orchestra, of representative symphonic instrumentation, made its first public appearance of the year in a concert only three weeks after the opening of the fall quarter. Its reception was such that plans for future concerts were made and music for programs selected. Persistent rehearsals followed, and many a practice period was devoted to acquiring the polish of fine musical expression. Subsequent concerts displayed that the recognition the orchestra has been achieving as one of the outstanding college musical organizations is well merited.

An attempt was made to present something different in the type of musical programs, and for this reason compositions in a modern vein illustrating "jazz" in its concert form were featured in a number of the regular appearances of the group. A Study in Blue by Savino, in which Betty Weaver appeared as piano soloist, was of this type.

Among the highlights of the past season were the solo appearances of Miss Weaver and Winifred Chute. A short concert tour early in the spring took the orchestra to Alexandria, Osakis, and Sauk Centre. The three concerts were played in one day to three appreciative audiences. Miss Chute's playing of a Schumann concerto was the feature of the formal spring concert.

One of the objectives of the orchestra is to provide an opportunity for music majors and other advanced musical students to study and perform the best in music literature.

IN order to give its members a broader background in choral music as well as an enjoyment and an appreciation of musical work, the Choral Club studied an unusually wide variety of compositions during the past year. The selections included English and American folk songs as well as religious works. One of the most interesting of these was "Listen to the Lambs" which the club presented to the Community Christmas Sing and at the College Christmas Concert.

The activities of the club during the Spring quarter proved to be the most interesting of the year. During that time the organization presented several out of town concerts including one at Cambridge and one at Sauk Centre. The Choral Club also gave a concert at the Technical High School and in May a concert in connection with the St. Cloud Municipal Chorus and the college orchestra.

For its year's work, the Choral Club set up two very definite aims—the cultivation of fine choral tone production, and the development of unity and blending between its various sections. The members of the club feel that these aims have largely been achieved through the direction and leadership of Mr. Harvey Waugh, director.

One of the most memorable of the club's social meetings was a party given in the Social Room of the college where the group spent the evening in dancing, playing ping-pong, and listening to instrumental solos given by various members of the organization.

UNDER the direction of Miss Myrl Carlsen, the Cecilian Glee Club, composed of fifty-five members, enjoyed another year of semi-weekly rehearsals, parties, programs, concerts, and trips. As soon as the voice tests for membership were over, the group organized under the above officers and began work for appearances throughout the year.

The Cecilians made their first appearance early in the fall, singing for the state convention of Federated Clubs, which held its meeting at the Teachers College. At the Central Junior High School Community Sing the group sang a few seasonal numbers. Two other Christmas programs at which the group appeared were the P. E. O. Christmas party at the C. B. Lewis home and later, the annual Reading Room Christmas Dinner at the Breen Hotel.

The winter skating party was held in January. Miss Carlsen missed it because of illness but heard of it afterward, as the girls talked of the great fun and much food.

In the spring came the annual concert which meant lovely, summery, formals, a variety of song moods, a violin obligato by Ralph Holter, a flute obligato by Clyde Parlova, piano solos by Rosemary Schultheis, a duet by Lenore Jacobson and Edith Anderson, and a dance interpretation for one number. After the concert the girls and their guests went to the social room for their annual spring party.

The year was triumphantly ended with successful repetitions of its spring concert for the College Club, for the Technical High School, and at several programs during the annual spring tour.

A NEW musical organization, the College Glee Club, was organized this year under the able direction of Miss Margaret Ludwig. It has been functioning with much success and has been a great pleasure to the forty-two members as well as to the school.

At the first meeting of the year it was decided that two meetings a week would be necessary for the club to acquire a sufficient degree of skill.

Preparation for the annual Christmas Concert was begun early in the year with special emphasis and drill on vocalization. The groups contribution to the concert consisted of two seasonal numbers. The group also participated in the community Christmas sing which was held at the Central Junior High School Auditorium.

A sleigh ride party was enjoyed by the club after the Christmas holidays. Refreshments were served at the college cafeteria afterwards.

Plans for a program to be presented at convocation formed part of the activities of the College Glee Club. A program of Easter music was another project entered into with much enthusiasm. The year's work reached its climax in the presentation of a spring concert with a Norwegian theme.

The group is looking forward to a well established organization next year.

IN the fall of 1936 a new organization, the Girls' A Cappella Choir, was initiated as a promising musical organization under the able and efficient leadership of Mrs. Helen Steen Huls. The A Cappella Choir consisted of sixteen selected members possessed of such musical equipment as well-handled voices, sight-reading ability, and a good sense of pitch.

After several weeks of practice, the A Cappella Choir made its first appearance at convocation. The second appearance was at the courtesy program presented by the Music Department of the Teachers College for the Minnesota Federation of Women's Clubs.

October twenty-first, the A Cappella Choir was given the opportunity to sing in public at the Business and Professional Women's Club dinner. The group's fourth appearance was at the fall graduation.

December tenth, the Choir presented an entire program of music for the Twentieth Century Club at the Breen Hotel. After the program the girls were guests at the club's tea.

Another social gathering was that held at Mrs. Hul's apartment when she was hostess to the group at a buffet supper.

In accordance with tradition the A Cappella Choir participated in the Christmas Community Sing at the Central Junior High School.

On December twentieth, the A Cappella Choir contributed to the Christmas program given at the Teachers College by five musical organizations.

At its second convocation appearance, February first, the choir presented a selection arranged by Mrs. Huls.

As a money raising project, the choir, under the guidance of Mr. and Mrs. Huls, sold pop corn balls and candy bars at home basketball games.

Plans and work for concerts in neighboring towns and the spring concert for the college students were the activities of the group during the spring quarter.

THE Blackfriars' presentation of "Lady of Letters" opened the dramatic season of the college on November seventeenth. The play was directed by Mr. Mason Hicks, new dramatic coach and instructor.

His plans for the dramatic organization of the year were outlined at the Blackfriar meeting held at the home of Marion Niskern, president. The men of the Blackfriars were hosts to the entire club at the second social meeting in the Al Sirat Fraternity House.

During the fall a group of new members, Lucille Monarski, Eugene Stanger, and Ted Shiffer, were initiated into the organization. They presented a fifteen minute comic skit.

During the year a special effort has been made to induce greater activity on the part of all club members. One important phase of the program involved revision of the constitution, setting up definite standards as to attendance and participation. A schedule of helpful conferences has contributed in bringing about a more effectively active group.

The Blackfriars joined with the Players in presenting a Christmas play for a convocation program, "Columbine Madonna", a modern play quite different from the usual Christmas drama.

Plans for the interchange of dramatic productions with St. John's University and St. Benedict's College were worked out during the winter.

PLAYERS, not of the Elizabethan era nor yet of Hollywood, but of our own Players Club of 1936-1937. Membership is not overly large but the interests lack no vim on that account. Players is not an exclusive society, for anyone interested in the many aspects of drama and the stage is invited to become a member. Players, by participation in actual play production, earn points toward entrance to the Blackfriars and then, by more work, to membership in the national dramatic fraternity, Alpha Psi Omega.

The primary purpose of the club is to teach its members the how, why, and wherefore of directing plays. "The primary purpose is the production of plays," says Mr. Mason A. Hicks, adviser. Accordingly, as one of the activities, one-act plays, directed by Players and acted by Players casts, have been produced for the edification of the group. The first was the humorous "Weak Spot" in which Lorraine Bensler showed Mr. and Mrs., played by Cora Rudningen and Carl Johnson, that they still had a weak spot when it came to superstitions. "Columbine Madonna", a typical mummers play, starring Corinne Benson, was directed by Margaret La Pray with the assistance of Mr. Hicks. This play was presented by the Blackfriars and Players at convocation.

Of the all-college plays, notable was "Lady of Letters" and the freshmen play, "Three Cornered Moon", starring several worthy Players.

During the latter part of the year the main part of the meetings was devoted to Mr. Hick's discussions on producing a play. The play used as the example problem was "Sunny Morning."

The club's social event of the year was a wiener roast at the lodge above the approach to the Teachers College Islands.

WITH the enthusiasm and temperamental instability that only artists can display, the Art Club began the fall quarter determined to turn out masterpieces equal only to those of Michaelangelo.

Tryouts for the club were held soon after reorganization, and much needed new blood was added with the help of the initiation committee who "daubed" each candidate a new member. Additional humiliations were inflicted by requiring gaudy cambric smocks to be worn until the novices had qualified as artists. Only the best of all those who tried out were chosen, that is, only those who will, in the future, be second Rubens or Rivas.

Most of the meetings consisted of drawing from real life using as models the advisers, Miss Penning and Mr. Felix Schwarz, because they were near at hand and always willing. Plans were discussed for bettering the appearance of the school by making murals, screens, and other decorations. As yet, these plans are not beyond the "thumb nail sketch" stage, but they will be completed. Although the club did nothing of especial note, the inspiration remains. The fruits of many pen-sive moments promise to ripen in the near future in the form of a large mural.

The members are gaining steadily in experience and in knowledge in the field of art through the constructive criticism along both practical and aesthetic lines that are given to every member.

The Art Club performs a worthwhile service to the college in making posters of all types for a variety of activities. Through this advertising service the club "sells many a thing that would otherwise be unheard of."

TO members of the Camera Kraft Club there is something fascinating as well as utilitarian about photography. To them photography is not merely a "press the button" act; it is an art.

This year the club began its activities with bi-monthly organization meetings at which the experienced members gave demonstrations in developing films and printing pictures. New members secured cameras, films, and photographic equipment, and after trying their skill in snapping pictures, produced their first prints. Subsequent studies of the fundamentals of photography, photographic equipment, the mechanics of photography, and artistic picture taking aided the amateurs in their work. Reports by faculty members and local commercial photographers on composition and art, portrait lighting, enlarging, tinting, and various related subjects were given as an aid in carrying out the club projects.

As a bit of practical work, many of the club members used their favorite snapshots to add a personal touch to their greeting cards at Christmas time. The club members designed an unique float for the Homecoming parade—a large box camera was built around the Lawrence Hall coupe—in order to "see everything."

Following the custom of former years, the Camera Kraft members took snapshots for the Talahi under the supervision of the staff photographer, Ray Stumvoll.

Dr. Leslie Zeleny, adviser of the group, was unable to resume his advisership after returning from a study-tour of Europe and was replaced by Mr. Roland Torgerson, newly appointed head of the department of industrial arts.

Members of the Camera Kraft concluded their year with an annual picnic and visit to an art institute.

THE Women's Self-Government Association has endeavored to create a sense of unity and fellowship among the women of the college, to establish favorable living conditions, and to promote high standards of personal and group life.

All women in the college become members of the association upon registration. The executive board of this association is composed of a representative from each dormitory, three Yo-Hi representatives, one representative from the W. A. A., and one from the Y. W. C. A. Mrs. Beth Garvey, Dean of Women, Miss Ethel Graves, Yo-Hi adviser, and Mrs. Bertha Sharp and Miss Irene Helgen, dormitory directors, are advisers of the board. The members of the Board this year included Helen Curry, Flora Cochrane, Helmi Monk-konen, Marjorie Broderick, Jule Christopherson and Jacqueline Brick as well as the officers.

This year has seen a marked growth in the constructive activities and services of the organization. As a part of the orientation program the W. S. G. A. Board entertained the women of the college at a card and game party, which afforded an opportunity for the women of the college to become acquainted.

The Campus-Sister program made it possible for each new girl to meet new friends more easily, and to receive help during the time she most needed it.

The W. S. G. A. cooperated in carrying out the Homecoming festivities.

An invaluable contribution to the college was the Women's Lounge, which was the scene of several teas and a Kensington party. The Lounge was completed during the winter quarter and equipped with modernistic furniture and furnishings planned by the Art Department. Contributions from the women's societies and the senior class made some useful and attractive additions possible. Hostesses were in charge during the day to help make the Lounge more comfortable. This project was planned and directed by the W. S. G. A. Board.

The fine cooperation and good fellowship within the organization contributed much toward a successful year.

YO-HI, the name of this prominent campus organization, is derived from the Indian word "Otoihohi" which means "each and every". In other words, each and every girl who does not live in a dormitory is invited to join this entertaining society which affords opportunities for friendships. The Yo-Hi club was organized eight years ago with Miss Ethel Graves and Mrs. L. D. Zeleny as the first advisers. Until her departure a few months ago, Miss Andreassen assisted Miss Graves as one of the advisers of the past year.

The Yo-Hi girls opened their year's activities early in the fall when they held their annual pow-wow on the Teachers College Islands. Over one hundred girls participated in the treasure hunt which was followed by a lunch of wild rice soup, sandwiches, apples and candy. As a part of the evening's program, the girls discussed activities and preparations for homecoming.

It is a tradition for the Yo-Hi girls, at Christmas time, to go out caroling around the college campus, under the dormitory windows, and around the homes near the college.

On March sixth the Yo-Hi's had an informal dance in the Social Room.

It is the custom for the Yo-Hi's to have a picnic a few days before the close of school. This picnic is anticipated with pleasure by the girls and their advisers as the climax to the numerous entertaining events held throughout the year by these active girls.

THE College League of Women Voters which was organized in nineteen twenty-seven, under the leadership of Miss Isabel Lawrence, a former faculty member, is one of the most active organizations on the campus. Its purpose is to give the members training in the study of present day governmental problems, in order to arrive at unbiased conclusions. The League also brings the members in contact with others working on these problems, by coordinating its program with that of other college leagues and by contacts with the Senior League of Women Voters. All women enrolled in the college are eligible for membership.

Each year delegates are sent to the annual state convention of the College League which was held this year at Carleton College October sixteenth and seventeenth. Harriet Berg, Marie Bruning, Margaret Quinn, Violet Nelson, Mabel Erickson, and Miss Anna Larson accompanied her to the gathering.

Discussions on present day problems were led by faculty members of Carleton and St. Olaf Colleges, and also by outstanding Senior League members.

Harriet Berg also represented the League at a board meeting of all the colleges held in St. Paul on February nineteenth.

The year's program of activities was preceded by a membership tea to which all the women in the college were invited. Then at the regular bi-weekly meetings which followed, there were lively discussions on the presidential campaign, the social security act, trained personal, limited states neutrality, and consumers problems. Several interesting outside speakers were secured to address the members on the topics under discussion.

THE Inter-Society Board was founded in the year 1925 as a referendum board to consider plans and policies of inter-society interest, to promote a harmonious relationship among the societies, and to foster activities for the enrichment of campus life. Throughout its lifetime the board has formulated many regulations necessary to carry on the programs of the societies with fairness and adequate standards.

During the year 1936-1937, the Board has been concerned with discussion of various problems of interest to the Board alone as well as to all the seven societies. This year a revision of the rushing program, the "request slip" system, was inaugurated by the combined action of the societies through the Inter-Society Board. The necessary scheduling of dates for rushing parties and other social functions was accomplished in the Board meetings.

A written constitution, drawn up by Marva Maxwell, Inter-Society Board president for the year 1935-1936, was adopted by the Board after careful deliberation on each article. The constitution will serve in the future as a document of guidance and reference. Elasticity can be maintained through the adoption of amendments.

This spring quarter, the Board has been busy formulating policies for next year's Inter-Society Board with a view to making the work of that body run more smoothly, and efficiently.

Above all, the Inter-Society Board attempts to develop a spirit of cooperation among the societies in order that the total membership may realize more fully the benefits made possible through the social contacts and fine programs offered by the societies.

WITH the opening of school in September, the Athenaeum society was soon re-organized and busy at planning the work for the next year.

The program theme of "Famous Women" as planned by Mildred Laska was an inspiration to all the members of the society. Such works as Anne Lindberg's "North to the Orient", E. Benson's "Life of Charlotte Bronte", and Ann Hyde Choate's "Juliette Low" took the group to many countries and showed the work and activities of other women never to be experienced by most of us.

The rushing party centered about the theme "Around the Year", with our president as Father Time, greeting the guests, assisted by such able calendar characters as Santa Claus, St. Valentine, Spring, Priscilla, the Spril Duncce, and St. Patrick, besides a host of others. The impersonations proved exciting and interesting to all.

Guest speakers added much to the enjoyment of the meetings. Mary Hamilton told of her experiences as an aviatrix, Dorothy Ekstrand gave first hand information on Christmas in China and Miss Martin told of her Alaskan trip.

The new members were formally initiated into the Athenaeum temple at a tea in the Breen, with special music furnished by Evelyn Olson and Elsie Kalionen.

Although rural teaching took some of our members from us at times, we worked busily and happily on to the close of a successful year.

VARIETY was the main note in the activity calendar of the Avon Society this year. Poetry in its different aspects was discussed. The short stories of Russia, Scandinavia, France and America formed the basis of four lively discussions. The stories of the lives of Schubert, Chopin and Mozart were also presented. At these meetings musical selections were played or sung by several members of the society.

These meetings were followed by several about various phases of art. Miss Pauline Penning gave an interesting talk on the works of modern artists, with many unusual sidelights on the lives of several of them. Surrealism was touched upon as, or as not, an art. At another meeting Van Gogh's unusual career was discussed. At still another meeting Grant Wood and his paintings were discussed.

These meetings were interspersed at various intervals with many social functions.

The evening of January twenty-ninth a gay Dutch Lunch in Miss Amy Dale's apartment honored the initiates.

Dimmed colored lights shining on bright modernistic flowers provided the theme for the successful mid-winter formal held in the Social Room on the night of February twenty-seventh.

May fifteenth brought forth another gala dance, this time in the form of a dinner dance at the Breen Hotel.

The Avon Society wound up its year with its annual picnic on the Islands on May twenty-seventh.

PHOTOZETEANS, "Seekers after light", again assembled in the old Y. W. C. A. room in the fall of 1936. It was a very small band then, only six or seven veteran members left after graduation had taken its toll. But the Photozeteans are "seekers" so they began to search for girls who could meet their standard of a "B" average. Slowly the society began to grow until it had almost tripled its original number.

The Photozeteans, in their quest for some new topic of study, decided upon modern drama. Some delightful evenings were spent discussing the trend of modern drama, favorite stage productions, the foremost dramatists and actors, and then as a climax Miss Pauline Penning talked on "Does the Setting Make the Play?"

With homecoming looming up in the fall quarter came the question of having a float in the parade. It was decided that the members should march in a body. One meeting the members will all remember was the one spent at the home of Miss Williams when the banner for the parade was made.

The winter quarter brought a change in the discussions of the Photozeteans. This time they confined themselves to their own state by studying Minnesota authors. Just ask those girls what they learned about Sinclair Lewis, Martha Ostenso, Gladys Carroll, and the others.

The winter quarter brought the problem of rushing new girls. January fourteenth found a group of nearly thirty bound for a sleigh-ride. After the sleigh ride the girls returned to the Social Room for lunch.

The next important event of the year was the initiation of the new members which was held at Mrs. Hayes home February third. The year ended with the annual house party at Pleasant Lake.

TWELVE girls held the first Waverly Society meeting of nineteen hundred thirty-six and nineteen hundred and thirty-seven in Miss Grace Nugent's apartment to plan the program for the year. For it they chose a constructive theme, "Literature at Its Best."

At the next meeting on October fifteenth, several girls presented a walking rehearsal of the play, Till the Day I Die, by Clifford Odets. On October twenty-ninth, Miss Myrl Carlsen discussed current Broadway plays which she had attended during her recent visit to New York City.

The program of the next meeting diverged somewhat from the general theme. Miss Mamie Martin, a member of the college faculty, gave an illustrated lecture on a trip to Alaska taken last summer. At a later meeting, another guest speaker, Dr. Leslie Zeleny, discussed his trip through Europe.

Interspersed throughout the above meetings were interesting book reviews given by the Waverly members, including A Child Went Forth by Helen Mattie McKnight and Gone With the Wind by Margaret Mitchell.

The social program of the Waverly Society began with an outing at the College Islands.

The Rushing Tea held at the Breen Hotel was followed by the initiation banquet at which several new girls took their society pledges.

The first social event of the spring quarter was a "potluck supper" at the Island Lodge. On May seventh, the Waverly girls completed their social season with their spring formal.

THE Minerva program this year included a study of outstanding women figures in the world. The lives of the following women were studied: Ada Comstock, Helen Wills Moody, Madame Curie, Sigrid Undset, Amelia Earhart, Madame Schumann-Heink, Mary Cassat, Jane Addams, Eleanor Wylie, Eva Le Galliene, Pavlowa. Program chairmen were Mary Ahles and Patricia Phillips.

A progressive dinner party was substituted for the traditional breakfast during rushing week. Cocktails were served at the Bemis home, salad at Stewarts, main course at Bricks, and dessert at Goehrs. The evening was spent playing games and dancing.

Two picnics were given by the Minervas.

One in the fall at the Brick cabin at Big Watab Lake and the other in the spring at Grand Lake. At the first picnic, Mary Jane Stevenson presented the society with a new song.

Nine new girls were taken into the society. These girls were entertained at a pledge tea held at the Lagergren home. They were initiated in January at a dinner given at the Delay home.

In honor of the new members, the winter formal was held in the social room, February thirteenth.

The last social function of the Minerva Society was the dinner dance held at the Country Club May twenty-second.

A PICNIC supper brought the Story Tellers together for the first meeting of the school year. Clarence Day's novel, "Life With Father", was reviewed. The varied programs of the year justified the title—"A Pot Pourri of Modern Trends". A trip to St. John's University to study astronomy demonstrated trends in science. Other meetings opened with programs in modern art, Indian legends, a study of the opera "Mignon" a reading of "Bury the Dead" by Miss Bottum, works of contemporary American and Negro poets, modern short stories and essays, and panel discussions dealing with popular current topics.

At Homecoming, the active members renewed friendships with the alumnae at a cafeteria breakfast. Mary Goethe, an alumnus, entertained the Story Tellers at her home for breakfast when the M. E. A. met in Minneapolis.

Miss Budge's home was the scene of a Christmas supper party. After the girls had served the supper they prepared and distributed gifts. Plans for rushing were completed.

On Saturday, January sixteenth, rushers were the guests of the society at luncheon in an "Italian Cabaret". The program, costumes, food, favors, and decorations carried out this novel idea.

Twenty-two pledges became members at the candle-light ceremony, Thursday evening, January twenty-eighth. The formal initiation was climaxed with the traditional pin ceremony. Dinner in a setting of Story Teller colors—green and yellow—was followed by a talk by Dr. Zeleny. Alumnae were guests at the initiation and dinner.

The winter dance, late in February, took the form of a gay carnival.

An informal get-together on St. Patrick's Day added variety to the activities of the club.

As a fitting climax for the social calendar, the dinner-dance in May once more brought all Story Tellers together to end a happy and successful year.

CHOOSING the name Thalia, the Grecian Goddess of art and poetry, a group of girls organized a society under the leadership of Miss Elsa Dopp. The Shepherd's crook and the ivy wreath symbolize the three constant virtues: helpfulness, faithfulness, and zeal. The purposes of the society are found in studying to broaden culture through literature, and in working to further the spirit of friendliness and cooperation. In carrying out these purposes the society began its activities with an alumni breakfast at homecoming, many of the older girls attended and exchanged stories and experiences of their teaching careers. Three meetings of the society were opened for new girls who were interested.

The first open meeting was devoted to a talk by Mr. Erwin Hertz of the Technical High School. His discussion was centered on China. Several piano duets were played by Velma Kuefler and Virginia Larsen. The second open meeting was a discussion by Miss Helen Bottum on current plays now showing on Broadway. The last open meeting was a lecture by Miss Clara Ledahl of the Technical High School of her trip to Europe last summer. Miss Ledahl exhibited costumes and pieces of art that she had brought back from Europe.

The rushing party, to entertain new girls, was a breakfast in the social room.

A dinner at the DeLay home was followed by the formal initiation of new members. The initiates were introduced to the goddess, Thalia, and to the ideals of the society.

Social entertainments also played a part in the program of the Thalia society. A formal dance closed the winter activities.

The spring events included a trip to Minneapolis to see a play and the annual spring dance.

THE past school year has proved to be a successful one for Al Sirats in academic, extra curricular and social fields.

As a part of orientation week, the fraternity sponsored an All College men's night at the fraternity home.

Another event that was of service to the college was the Ice Carnival sponsored annually by the Al Sirats. This year a special day, February sixth, was set aside for River-view sports. February ninth was the date of the main show. In spite of cold weather, thousands turned out to see the array of skaters from the Twin Cities. Perhaps the building of "King Winter" was one of the events of the Carnival most enjoyed by some of the students.

The high-light of the club's activities for this year came on the evening of March eighteenth. This date marked Al Sirat's permanent possession of the "Talahi Cup" through having presented the prize-winning skit of the Revue for three consecutive years. The boys hope the administration doesn't object to purchasing a new cup.

On February thirteenth, the fraternity held a Valentine's "Sweet Heart" party. The Social Room was decorated with a ceiling made up of four thousand hearts. Hearts were also used on the walls and on table covers.

May day marked another big event of the year—the Al Sirat formal. The dinner-dance was held as is traditional, at the Breen Hotel. This is the one time of the year when alumni and members get together to reminisce over the past and to plan for the future.

Debate

TEN interested debaters formed the nucleus of the squad this year under the leadership of Mr. William Griffin. The season was the heaviest in all the years of St. Cloud Teachers College debating, with more than fifty debates included on the schedule, as well as three very important tournaments, the Red River Valley Tournament at Concordia College in Moorhead; the St. Thomas Tournament at St. Paul, and a tournament and oratorical contest held at St. Cloud in April. The inter-collegiate debating schedule included such teams as: St. Thomas College, Macalester, Mankato Teachers, Gustavus Adolphus, Moorhead Teachers, Hibbing Junior College, and St. John's University.

Debating affords the best possible opportunity to learn how to present arguments convincingly. Training in quick, clear, and logical thinking, in detecting fallacies of reasoning, and in keeping calm despite quick fire of an opponent's argument, are only a few of the benefits to be derived from debate training.

The Pi Kappa Delta question for the year was indeed a timely one: "Resolved, that Congress be empowered to fix minimum wages and maximum hours for industry". On this controversial question the debaters worked ceaselessly—compiling evidence, quotations, drawing up briefs, outlining cases and filing material precisely in the "Card catalogue." Second place ranking was awarded at the Red River Valley Tournament to the women's team, composed of Violet Nelson and Mabel Erickson. The team was also selected to stage a demonstration debate before the entire assembled group of debaters.

A men's team, composed of William Nierengarten and Thorsten Carlson, also participated in this tournament, winning three and losing three of their debates.

Three teams of debaters were entered in the St. Thomas tournament in March, including Joseph Dobson, William Nierengarten, William Carlson, George Regis, Violet Nelson and Mabel Erickson. Here the teams participated in seventeen debates, winning a total of nine.

Other debaters who participated actively in inter-collegiate contests were: Frederick Parsons, Edna Carlson, and Clara Bertels.

TO allow for cooperation among the various Religious organizations of the college, the Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., Newman Club, Lutheran Students Association, and Wesley Foundation, the Inter-Religious Council was organized in nineteen thirty-two.

Each religious organization has three representatives in the council. They in turn elect their representative to the Student Council.

The Inter-Religious Council is the medium through which affairs concerning the various religious organizations can be worked out.

Under the able direction of Ruth Sanders, chairman, a Youth Week was carried out during the week of November the ninth. The theme of the discussions and addresses was "The Quest of Youth."

Rev. Arthur L. Odell of the House of Hope Presbyterian church in St. Paul gave the opening address; he spoke on "Character as a Fundamental". Dr. Harland C. Logan of the First Methodist Episcopal church of St. Cloud and Rev. Ferdinand C. Falque, Executive Secretary of the Bureau of Catholic Action assisted in carrying out a successful week.

Individual conferences were held for the students with the speakers in Mrs. Garvey's office to gain any help to solve their own problems.

Discussion groups were organized to carry on discussions started during religious week.

The annual Inter-Religious Party was held in the Social Room in February. Hortense Larson was general chairman. The party opened with community singing followed by a program given by the different religious organizations. Games were played, after which a lunch was served.

A church directory was compiled according to the church preference of the students, and sent to the pastors of the various churches of St. Cloud.

THE Young Men's Christian Association was organized on the Teachers College campus in nineteen twenty-nine. This organization, open to all the men of the college, endeavors to promote good fellowship among the students and faculty; seeks to promote the best interest of the college, and to enrich the social, intellectual, and religious life of its members.

At one of the early fall meetings, Mr. Mason Hicks spoke on "Impelling Motives Which Cause People To Act As They Do". At another, Dr. Croxton led an informal group discussion on "How to Get an Education at College". Later, under the direction of Mr. F. M. Smudde, the Y. M. C. A. members learned about "Opportunities for Leadership in Rural Communities." A men's party at Eastman Hall added variety to the programs.

"Men-Women Relationships" was adopted as a central theme around which were centered discussions for a series of meetings. Leaders of the respective meetings were: Beryl Bracewell, Ewart Grove, and Robert Althaus.

A decided innovation on the campus this year was a boxing exhibition inaugurated by the Y. M. C. A. Three St. John's boxers were added to the card, each matched with a local boxer. The club aims to make similar exhibitions annual affairs.

THE program theme of the Young Women's Christian Association this year was, "Christian living in the home, in the community, and in the world". It was carried out in various types of meetings. Some were conducted in discussion groups; others included book reviews, a hobby meeting, and special Christmas and Easter programs. Several times during the year speakers came to give helpful information on specific topics. Among these were Dr. Harland Logan, Mrs. George Friedrich, and Miss Elinor Schmidt, a representative on the National Girl Scout Organization. Devotions were made a regular part of every meeting.

Since its objective is to broaden the social and intellectual, as well as the spiritual life of the women of the campus, the Y. W. C. A. has participated in special activities outside of the regular bi-weekly meetings. These activities began during Orientation Week with the annual tea for all the women of the college. Later, at the traditional candlelight service, about fifty women were initiated. These women gave an active interest and support to the Inter-Religious Council in their Youth Movement program and in their Inter-Religious party. Their cooperation also aided in Y. W. C. A. projects, which included the Christmas box, the round robin letter sent to all the alumni members, and parties of different types held during the year.

The advisers for this year have been Miss Agnes Brohaugh, Miss Ethel Graves, Miss Beatrice Williams, Miss Mabel Paull, and Miss Elinor Thompson. Mrs. Herbert Clugston and Mrs. George Friedrich have been the off campus advisers.

UNDER the direction of Rev. T. Leo Keaveny, Rector of Holy Angels Cathedral, the Newman Club was organized on this campus in 1923. The association is a branch of the National Society of Newman Clubs, named after Cardinal Newman. The club is now under the direction of Rev. Kraemer of the Holy Angels Cathedral.

The purpose of the club is to promote the moral and religious interests of the Catholic students of the college, to bring them into closer relationship with each other, and to undertake a study of current and social problems.

The club has followed a new plan of discussion during the past year. Under the direction of Rev. Ferdinand Falque, Secretary of Catholic Action Council, small groups were organized, which met at private homes and discussed religious topics. At the regular bi-weekly meetings speakers were presented to the group and programs were given.

An interesting and educational demonstration of the Gregorian Chant was given by Rev. Innocent and Rev. Mathieus of the University of St. John's, at a December meeting. Gregorian Chant is the true accompaniment for mass. It sounds strange to many listeners because it is oriental and does not agree with modern music in scale, mood or tone.

During the year a series of dances, parties and breakfasts were held by the eighty-six members of the club. At Christmas time the club arranged and presented a program of seasonal songs, readings and instrumental music for the children of the St. Cloud Orphanage, after which they presented the children with boxes of candy.

The Newman Club members have participated in many school activities this year including Homecoming, the Inter-Religious Party, and the Talahi Revue.

THE Calvin Forum began its season's activities in the fall of nineteen thirty-six when all Presbyterian students of the college were welcomed to a Sunday night reception and opening meeting.

"Religion and Life", the theme of the year has been developed through these topics: "What Is Vision?", "Seeing the Beautiful", and "Education for Life". The speakers were: Dr. Garvin, Professor H. A. Clugston, and Dr. Harland Logan.

Under the guidance of Mrs. C. S. Olds, the Calvin Forum joined with the other organizations of the church in the School of Religion. For six Sunday evenings from January twenty-fourth to February first the members met for a "Pot Luck" supper at six-thirty. The talks, discussions and music of the programs continued on the general theme.

Marshmallow roasts on the rocks, a progressive Christmas party culminating in finding the stocking filled by Santa Claus, and a sleigh ride party on a crisp January evening were some of the social high-lights of the year.

Calvin Forum's special activities have been varied this year. They have sponsored Hobby Night for young people every Friday evening—a recreational period for playing games, developing your own hobby, and singing. At Christmas time a large box was sent to the Range for those less fortunate. Joining with the other religious organizations of the college, the Calvin Forum members participated in the inter-religious party.

In its short life of six years, Calvin Forum has set up many traditions which have been carried out this year, including Orientation supper, Homecoming breakfast—this year the theme was "Flying High"—the Spring Retreat, Burning of the Log, and initiation.

SINCE its organization in nineteen twenty-seven, within the St. Cloud Teachers College, the Lutheran Students Association has become the largest religious group on the campus. It is a chapter of the national organization, the Lutheran Students Association of America, and belongs to the Land O' Lakes division. One of its purposes is to develop healthy social life and strong Christian friendship among the Lutheran students.

The objectives of the organization are to bring the Lutheran students closer together; to broaden, to cultivate, and to animate the moral and social lives of the Lutheran students of the college. It also aims to build up a national fellowship of Lutheran students through its affiliation with the national organization, the L. S. A. of America.

A program and party constituted the first "get acquainted" meeting in September. Leif Hougen gave an account of his trip to the Ashram, the national L. S. A. convention at Oconomowac, Wisconsin. Mr. Bergren, Mr. Brommer, and Mr. Shafland, the local Lutheran pastors, invited the students to attend their respective churches.

On October third, a group of Lutheran Student members enjoyed an outing at Camp Nawakwa on Big Spunk Lake, at Avon. The day was spent in spiritual fellowship under the guidance of Mr. Bergren and Mr. Shafland, who spoke on the theme "Practical Christianity on the Campus."

Five Lutheran students, Vernice Johnson, Elsie Floren, Leif Hougen, Carl Johnson, and Miss Lillian Lind, adviser, attended the Regional Conference at the State Teachers College, La Crosse, Wisconsin, on November thirteenth, fourteenth and fifteenth.

Ruth Sanders was program chairman for the National Youth Week in the college, as well as program chairman of the Inter-Religious Council for the year.

The annual Christmas party was held in the Social Room in December. The evening was spent in games, a program was enjoyed, gifts were exchanged, and refreshments served. In keeping with the season, the group gathered around the lighted Christmas tree and sang carols before leaving.

The Lutheran Students Association joined with the other religious organizations on the campus in sponsoring an inter-religious party on February fourth in the Social Room. Eleanor Monson represented the Lutheran Students Association on the program with a vocal selection.

As a part of the year's activities, the L. S. A. participated in the Homecoming parade and in the Talahi Revue. The organization also had a sleigh ride party on February the thirteenth.

During the year, the organization has held regular meetings twice a month. Interesting speakers and attractive programs have insured a good attendance.

Guest speakers during the year have been Miss Dorothy Ekstrand, who talked on her teaching experiences in China; Miss Edna Monson, who conducted a Bible study from the book of Galatians; Ruth Youngdahl Nelson, of St. Paul, who spoke on the topic, "Burning Hearts", based on following Christ; and Miss Gerda Mortenson, Dean of Women at Augsburg College, Minneapolis, who spoke on "Student and Campus Problems." Besides inspirational talks at the meetings, some musical numbers were given by students from the Music Department of the college. At various meetings discussions on vital questions were held.

To climax the year, a Spring Retreat, which has become traditional in the history of the Lutheran Students Association, was held. The sunrise service, the traditional campfire sing, the Christian fellowship with one another, and the fun of camping are all experiences which combine to make it a pleasant week end.

THE Ranger Club has for its purpose the promotion of friendship and good fellowship among the students from the Range. Members belong to any one of the three sections of northern Minnesota Range territory: the Mesaba Range, the Vermillion Range, and the Cuyana Range.

This year one hundred twenty members were enrolled, the largest enrollment of the club since its organization. The meetings, which are held once a month, consist of business sessions followed by programs and social activities.

The social activities of the year started with the fall get-together and initiation party. Programs presented after the business meetings, consisted of musical numbers, short comical skits and discussions.

During the winter quarter an informal dance was held in Eastman Hall where the fast-stepping Rangers showed in the much talked of "Ranger Hop". The spring formal, which was the greatest event of the Ranger's social calendar, climaxed the club's activities for the year.

Bus transportation to and from the ranges was provided for this year as a result of the work of the organization.

THE Rural Life Club aims to present through regular meetings and social gatherings, a broader and more intelligent outlook on life, a keener appreciation of rural conditions, and a finer comradeship among its members. Theodore Roosevelt's Country Life Movement has been a source of inspiration and suggestion that will help many a member solve some of the puzzling problems that are sure to arise when the days of rural teaching begin.

The year's activities were begun by a rousing picnic on the college islands. High lights of the picnic: Mr. Smudde still remembers how hot the coffee was; Miss Knudson's delicious doughnuts; the delayed and most dramatic appearance of Herr Ford in his new green hat and shirt.

The programs of the Rural Life Club this year have been varied. Mr. O. J. Jerde gave a talk on the "History of the Country Movement"; Miss Ethel Graves told the members about her trip to New Orleans; Mr. George Friedrich spoke on "The Organization and Functioning of the Conservation Commission"; Dr. Leslie Zeleny, after returning from a study-tour abroad, spoke on "Education in Russia"; Mr. Roland Torgerson, the new head of the Industrial Arts department, talked on "Industrial Arts in the Rural School"; and Miss Lillian Budge told of her trip to Washington.

This year's activities were concluded with a party and an outdoor session, followed by a picnic on the islands. The program was in charge of Miss Knudson and Mr. Smudde.

FOLLOWING the tradition of former years, the Women's Athletic Association initiated its activities for the year, with the Orientation Week breakfast hike. About one hundred women turned out to enjoy a brisk hike to the rocks, followed by a breakfast of bacon and eggs. At this time the year's program of W. A. A. activities was introduced to the women, along with songs and opportunities for new friend-making.

The next W. A. A. event was a Women's Play Night, offering volleyball, darts, shuffle board, quoits, badminton, deck tennis, and ping pong. Its success prompted W. A. A. to sponsor a "Mixed Volleyball Night" in which eight color teams, composed of men and women, competed in a tournament. The two leading teams played an exhibition game for the championship. Because of the enthusiasm shown in this mixed night, further activities of this sort are being planned by the association.

The activities of the Winter Quarter began with the initiation of four new members: Doris Solberg, Bernadette Hall, Harriet Berg, and Ilene Carlson.

A new hiking program was adopted by the association during the Winter Quarter. The members of the governing committee are: Doris Solberg, Phyllis Johnson, and Harriet Berg.

A silver loving cup, the highest award given to any W. A. A. member was won this year by Helen Curry, Margaret Ruehle and Marien Strobel. In the spring the association attended the State Women's Athletic Association Play Day which was held May first at Carleton College.

Lettermen's Club

Treasurer.....	Harold Jacobs

THE 1936-37 Lettermen's Club has lived up to its promise of being a bigger and more active organization than the clubs of former years. It has had as its aim a more varied program of activities. The enrollment of the club lists thirty-six active members.

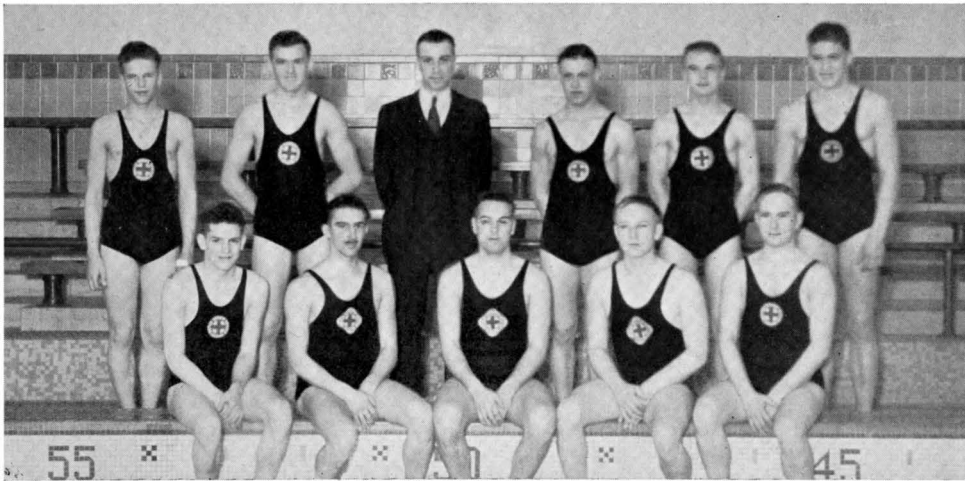

The club planned to provide entertainment between the halves of the home basketball games and Wheeler Van Steinburg and George Saunders headed a committee to carry this out.

As an initial number the Sauk Rapids tumbling team gave a very effective demonstration. That Badminton is not bad was shown when four of our well known tennis players engaged in a hard fought match between the halves of the Winona game. At another date Grittner and Winkleman indulged in reminiscences to the accompaniment of a harmonica and guitar.

In a program that vied with Major Bowes' famous amateur hour, seventeen new lettermen were initiated between the halves of the St. John's-St. Cloud basketball game. An innovation in amateur programs, a paddle wielded by the usually docile "Buck" Beseman inspired the amateurs to greater performance. Don Johnson made a very able gongster. A wide variety of entertainment was provided by the galaxy of new letter winners. We will never forget the adeptness with which "Tiger" Kottke wooed the Winged Victory or the terrific battle of "behemoths" Erickson and Lang. Or perhaps you prefer "the music goes round and round" by the maestro, Tom Perpich.

A social function closed the year's activities.

EARLY in the fall quarter of this year ten members of the American Red Cross Life Saving Service pledged themselves to the training for the perpetuation of the service which they represent among the men of the college.

These men, who are either Red Cross Seniors or Examiners, decided that there was definite need for a student organization to encourage the men of the college in using the swimming facilities and in furthering the instruction of water safety principles.

The first venture of the club was an aquatic show presented to both the student body and the general public on February eighteenth and nineteenth respectively. This show, called the "Big Splash" was the result of the ideas and efforts of all members under the direction of Norman Olson, swimming instructor. The many features of plain and fancy diving, humor, life saving, water stunts, canoeing, and team work were well received and largely attended.

The Knights of the Sea were organized by the club to include every man on the campus who wished to get more fun and competition from swimming. Norman Olson, who introduced the idea, made it a definite part of his business to see that all the knights got into the pool. The two divisions of college students and pupils of Riverview met regularly for recreational swimming. Norman Bailey worked out a novel Wheel of Fortune to decide which games were to be played each day.

Plans for the future include a second annual "Big Splash", which will be given next year. An individualized intra-mural swimming program for the benefit of all the men will be sponsored plus a definite plan to train life savers for summer service on the college beaches.

Members of the club are: Al Kempton, Robert Aidem, Phillip (Craig) Van Steinburg, Herbert Rupp, Norman Bailey, William Cochrane, and Walter Hiebert.

Women's Life Saving Corps

Advisers.....Miss Hupp, Miss Case

IF a fellow is in danger of a watery grave nowadays, we are told he is likely to owe his life to the gallantry of some lovely young woman from the St. Cloud Teachers College who will come plunging to his rescue. For some of the girls are not content with swimming and diving, but are studying the best methods of saving the lives of drowning persons. The swimming pool at Eastman proves an opportunity for study and practice.

Every two weeks the members of the corps meet at the pool and practice the different life saving methods, breaks, carries, approaches, artificial respiration, recoveries, disrobing, and other life saving technics. Part of the hour is also spent in playing various water games.

Not to be outdone by the Men's Splash Club, the Women's Life Saving Corps presented a water pageant, "How Swimming Grew Up". The cast included twenty-two of the best women swimmers and divers attending the college.

The group realizes that life saving methods have now reached such a fine point that the person who knows how to swim properly is never afraid in the water, and the person who knows a few simple rules of life saving is always prepared for an emergency. It has been the aim of the corps to give this information to others.

Membership in the Life Saving Corps includes five examiners and four senior life savers. Examiners include Jacqueline Brick, Marien Strobel, Marion Maher, Mary Stewart and Alice Nolan. Senior life savers include Lorraine Thomey, Evelyn Koch, Leona Hannigan, and Dorothy Krousey.

KAPPA DELTA PI, international honor society in education, was installed at the St. Cloud State Teachers College, April 23, nineteen thirty-two. The organization encourages high standards of preparation for teaching and invites as members, those who have attained excellence of scholarship and distinction of achievement as students and servants of education.

As an international honor society in education, Kappa Delta Pi pledges its members to high standards of educational and social service.

The organization, offered during the year a varied program of educational meetings and discussion forums, as well as social affairs. The professional meetings throughout the year were composed of: "Problems of Youth" with President Selke as speaker, an open forum on the discussion of Amendment Number Two presided over by Dr. Croxton;

"Problems of Elementary Teachers" by Miss Lela Stanley; "What the Superintendent Expects of the Teacher" by Mr. D. S. Brainard. Dr. Zeleny spoke on "Education in Europe"; Miss Grabrowski on "Social Studies"; John Bensen presided at an open discussion of "What is the Minnesota Legislature Doing for Education"; and Mr. James Quigley spoke on "What I Expect My Children to Get From Their High School Course."

A formal initiation at the Breen introduced twenty-five new members and two honorary members, Miss Paull and Miss Brohough, who were added to the membership roster. Several other social meetings were held throughout the year.

A North Central Regional Convention was held in St. Cloud in April at which time members of the Gamma Pi Chapter entertained delegates from four other colleges in Minnesota, North Dakota, and South Dakota.

Basketball Season

THE nineteen thirty-six season started off with a bang. The St. Cloud T. C. cagers seemed to derive inspiration from the new gold uniforms which were purchased for the squad. After long weeks of intensive drill on fundamentals Coach Kasch declared the squad ready for its opening game with Virginia Junior College. After a hardly fought battle Virginia emerged on the long end of a 36-30 score. Captain Rengel paced the losers with nine points while Urick led the winners with twelve.

In the following game with St. Olaf the St. Cloud warriors, smarting from their previous defeat, ran rough shod over the Oles 48-33.

Winona proved to be the first conference team engaged by the Red and Black. The Down-River aggregation were chastened by a 41-31 score. St. John's proved to be the next easy victim, losing 37-23 to a victory made by St. Cloud.

St. Cloud next went up to the range where they whipped Hibbing J. C. 48-25. On the following night they engaged Ely J. C. and barely eked out a 27-25 decision over that scrappy five. In a battle with the Duluth Cagers, the Bulldogs were the winners 31-21. The next quintet to fall in front of St. Cloud's juggernaut was Moorhead T. C. They fought hard, but the game ended with St. Cloud ahead 38-26.

The Granite City boys then moved into Valley City, North Dakota and won 35-34. On returning home they engaged St. John's on the college floor. In a surprise thriller the Johnnies came out on top in an overtime 38-37.

In a return game with Ely, the boys from S. T. C. won handily with a score of 53-28. The following game was played with the Mankato Indians who lost 40-33.

The second game with Moorhead convinced the Spuds that St. Cloud has a superior team. Our boys won again 45-30. Bemidji was undaunted by the formidable Red and Black reputation and turned the table with a win over St. Cloud by a score of 51-49.

In a slump, the home team fought desperately but Valley City edged them out 30-28.

In a trip south St. Cloud nosed out Mankato 47-46, but were ignominiously drubbed by an aroused team of Winona cagers. The final score—45-18.

The Bulldogs of Duluth invaded St. Cloud and blasted the nets until they came away on the long end of a 52-22 score.

In the final game of the season St. Cloud beat Bemidji 34-33 to wind up with a record of twelve games won and six lost.

Hockey Season

LED by Coach Walter Gerzin, the St. Cloud T. C. pucksters developed an imposing array of individual talent. After long hours of cooperative practice on the J. C. Brown field rink, the hockey sextette was ready for its first game of the season with St. John's University.

The men from S. T. C. easily trounced the Johnnies 4-1. Because of a sudden lack of material the team had to move two bulwarks of defense, Gerzin and Vandell into the forward wall. This upset the line-up so badly that they fell easy prey to a fast range team.

On the Hibbing rink, the Blackhawks subdued St. Cloud 8-1, but the next night in Chisholm the Maroons fell to the puck-mad St. Cloud to a tune of 7-3.

Coming back to St. Cloud the sextette drubbed St. John's U. for the second time by a score of 6-1.

Then came the Ice Carnival and with it a stick-swinging cyclone from Eveleth J. C. In a double-header they crushed the fighting St. Cloud team 4-2 and 9-1. Nothing daunted, however, the Red and Black warriors defeated St. Thomas 5-2 the following week.

The St. Cloud club next encountered St. John's and for the third time in the season beat them. This time the final gun chopped short the net bombardment at 7-1 for St. Cloud.

In the final series with Eveleth J. C. our lads again were cowed, losing the first game 9-2 and the second match 11-4.

The squad for this year consisted of Coach Gerzin, Erickson, Alexander, O'Malley, Olson, LeDoux, Champa, Letho, Vandell, Booker, and Anderson. It is altogether fitting that a rugged game should be played by a rugged group such as those mentioned above.

Hockey at St. Cloud is an up and coming sport. One sometimes wonders how those nimble-footed boys kept in condition at all this year with the prolonged cold snap. The cold did not seem to bother the hockey fans, who have increased in number each year since the beginning of the sport. At each game one could see a number of St. Cloud citizens present as well as students from the college. The people of St. Cloud have taken to hockey very much in the last few years. Their presence at the games is testimony enough for even the most skeptical.

Hockey is a game for the hardy man. The swiftness of the action of the game calls for much reserve strength and one really has to be physically fit in order to play. We are looking forward for a good year next year with the hope that some of those men coming in will be hockey enthusiasts and players. The few reserves we had this year will be first string players next year.

WITH the passing of each year we find that intramural sports are becoming more extensive throughout the college. This is due, no doubt, to two very potent influences. First, we are fortunate in having an excellent physical education department whose primary interest lies in the physical improvement of each student. Second, the students themselves are intensely interested in the intramural activities provided for those not skilled sufficiently to play on a varsity squad.

The intramural program is of necessity divided into three seasons—fall, winter, and spring. Seasonally appropriate schedules are prepared by two student managers—one a senior and the other a junior. These managers change each quarter. The managers for 1937 are listed above. These incumbents note on their successors for next year. Much of the credit due to the success of the intramural program must go to these student managers. The hours of work they are required to put in far over balance any praise or commendation that they might receive.

In the fall quarter many activities were introduced; of these, touch-football and volleyball held prominence. Teams were formed and an active schedule drawn up. The team captained by Wheeler Van Steinburg won the touch-football championship while the Ball Bombers captained by George Petty won the volleyball tournament. A ping pong tournament was inaugurated. Because of the large number of matches to be played this last tournament was arranged to carry over into the winter quarter to be completed.

Soon after the winter quarter began the ping pong tournament was closed. Kenneth Ekdahl was the champion over all opposition. A league of basketball teams was formed and a dual game schedule proposed. After a series of hard fought games, the La Bombas came out on top. Their leader was Van Steinburg. In the free-throw contest George Petty emerged the victor with forty-one counters out of fifty. This is but one short of the college record set a few years ago.

In the handball finals Elmer Nietfeld was the winner.

With the coming of spring, diamond ball, tennis, and horseshoe programs were begun. Interest in these sports is very keen as they are familiar to everyone.

There is nothing so beneficial to a member of the teaching profession as a good, working knowledge of various games. One of the easiest and most pleasant ways of obtaining this knowledge is through the facilities of the intramural program.

The ancient Greeks, whose wisdom often astonishes us, had a most elaborate and successful system for training the bodies of their young men. Aristotle, once commented on the necessity for and the possibilities of physical education. With our superior knowledge and equipment we are bereft of an excuse if our system should fail. Neglect would then be the only possible conclusion.

With the thought of a new college year soon to come, our aim should be not only to perpetuate but to increase the work that has already been done in the field of intramural sports. The major aim of modern civilization should be expansion and not placid contentment with the past achievements. Let us increase the already prominent position occupied by intramural sports at the St. Cloud State Teachers College.

Women's Major Sports

THE events which make up the major sports program are always a source of enjoyment and recreation to a large number of the college girls. The first few weeks are devoted to teaching the rules and fundamentals of the game. Then the group is divided into several teams, and a tournament is played. The final goal which every girl strives for is to become a member of the All Star Team.

Soccer and hockey get a good start soon after school opens in the fall. Fifteen enthusiastic girls kept the goalies busy. Not even cold weather or a skinned leg could keep them off the field when a championship game was to be played.

Although hockey is usually rougher, it proved to be the more popular of the two games. The excitement ran high when twenty girls with twenty sticks were fighting for places on the All Star Team.

One of the best liked sports is basketball. This is a fast moving, thrilling game with never a dull moment. The Ritzy-Zitts, led by Lois Zittleman, and the Hams, captained by Mary Hamilton, played several hotly contested games before the winner of the tournament could be determined. The Ritzy-Zitts emerged victorious. The All Star Team was made up of the following girls: L. Zittleman, L. Hartmann, M. Saunders, M. Witte, A. Saunders, M. Hamilton, and D. Walther.

Volleyball is the other winter sport which offers many thrills to the players. J. Brick, H. Curry, D. Solberg, M. Witte, and D. Walther were chosen for the All Star Team because of their outstanding playing.

To many people, spring means baseball, and college girls are no exception. As soon as the snow is gone you can see many green clad girls warming up in the pitcher's box and testing out their skill with the bat. Baseball proves to be one of the most popular sports of the whole year and there is a lot of keen competition for the various positions on the team.

Track is another exhilarating sport which gives the girls an opportunity to enjoy themselves out-of-doors. Some of the events worked on are the shot put, the discuss throw, the hurdles, and the dashes. Good form and body control are necessary in this sport.

Women's Minor Sports

THE minor sports program for women has aimed to provide opportunities in recreational activities for the average college girl. This was instituted only a year ago and has all ready become very popular among the girls. Games and activities were selected which would have a carry-over in out-of-school life. In this way the training received now will be of value throughout life.

The various sports have been organized under group games and individual contests. Many of these sports provide enough activity to satisfy the most versatile and proficient sports girl. Others aim to introduce the initiate into the field of recreational sports. There are also games provided which require skill rather than endurance. These are designed to reach those students who are not able to take part in the more difficult sports. Therefore the minor sports program can reach a much larger number of girls that was possible before the introduction of this program.

In all contests the emphasis has been on participation rather than competition. This has led to an ever increasing number of girls taking part in women's intramural activities. The whole set-up presents a well unified and integrated athletic program for college women.

For the year nineteen thirty-six and nineteen thirty-seven Marien Strobel and Alice Nolan were intramural sports managers. These girls selected the tournament activities and arranged the tournament schedule.

In the fall quarter ping pong, shuffle board and badminton were played. Over fifty girls entered these contests.

During the winter quarter, tournaments in the ever popular badminton and shuffle board were again held, in addition to a basketball free throw contest and paddle tennis tournament.

M. Strobel, S. Benson, B. Hall, D. Solberg, entered the paddle tennis tournament. R. Woodworth, M. K. Witte, D. Krousey, M. McNess, C. Finnegan, M. Hamilton, D. Solberg, H. Curry, entered the basketball contest. Badminton drew Hall, Finnegan, Berg, Carlson, E. Koch, M. Epsley, M. Strobel, R. Kickson, R. Woodworth, L. Jacobson. Shuffle board attracted Koch, Witte, Carlson, Benson, Solberg, Finnegan, Woodworth, Curry and Doering.

With the coming of spring, out-of-doors sports proved attractive, and tournaments in tennis, archery, and tether ball were held. The members of the W. A. A. had the pleasure of attending Play Day at Carleton College which is held for all college and university girls in the state. Games, such as those offered in the intramural sports program, were played.

THE SENIOR FROLIC

Eastman Club

EACH year the Senior all-college frolic is one of the year's entertainment highlights. This year the seniors quite out-did themselves when they transformed the big gym into the beautiful Eastman Club, equipped with tables, and entertained five hundred guests in an evening of glorious entertainment.

The decorations, designed by talented Boyanna Popovich, were an achievement in themselves; they were effective to the point of being spectacular. The entire walls and ceiling done in triangles and circles of black and red on a white background reflected in the gleaming floor, made a perfect setting for the tables with their fantastic gum drop trees and the rhythmic music of the Tech High Hats.

George Petty, representing the senior class as host, reserved tables to the capacity of the club. His courtesy and capability in handling an overlarge crowd made everyone very comfortable. Viola Grovender, with her staff of waiters kept the crowd supplied with punch and cookies, while the entertainers supplied first rate entertainment between dances.

The floor show consisted of college talent only, and the amount of talent was astounding. The "Girls Trio" started the entertainment with a series of numbers. LaMuth and Erickson in that Apache dance of theirs were followed by Esther Aslesen whose golden voice thrilled the crowd. Then came a tap dance routine by Koch, Goehrs, Gerzin and LeDoux, and last but not least were the three stooges, Winters, Lang and Van Steinburg as they "out-Houdinied" Houdini.

The Seniors can well be proud of this, their contribution to the college slate.

Practically the entire senior class, as well as many members of other classes cooperated to make the elaborate preparations for this party. A complete list would necessarily occupy more space than we have here, but here is the list of the chairmen as originally selected: general chairman, Ted Shiffer; decorations, Boyanna Popovich, Ray Stumvoll, Norbert Weis; entertainment, Evelyn Koch; refreshments, Betty Goehrs; head waiter, George Petty, publicity, Marva Maxwell; ticket sale, John Brennan; faculty advisers, Miss Pribble, Mr. Clugston.

SCOTT-POWELL

College Islands

NO matter what "ology" one is taking he will find what he wants somewhere on the one hundred seventy-five acres which comprise the chain of nine islands owned by the college and located in the Mississippi River below the dam. All nine are linked by bridges while there are ten or more additional smaller islands located nearby also owned by the college.

One island has been set aside as a permanent wild life refuge and will never be touched but allowed to develop naturally. Islands are commonly formed by the process of aggradation, which means adding to; and so it is likely these islands referred to in the old maps as "The Thousand Islands" were started when the load of the water became too heavy or the volume decreased and silt was deposited on the river bed. This latter form of aggradation is going on at present with the low-water conditions which are prevalent in the fall.

Besides the unusual and exceptional opportunities for nature study there are points of super-interest. Among these are the mounds and rings of stones near the south tip of the big island. The theories as to the origin is that the rings of stone were once seats around an old campfire. Some believed they are part of an ancient graveyard.

A far seeing administration made these islands a part of the college, which can truly be proud of this outdoor laboratory, without parallel in any college or university in the United States.

They are for the students to use and to enjoy. Well defined paths are found on all the islands; the tents and cabin for overnight trips; nature trails which have recently been made available.

Now that the weather is so warm, people do not seem to be able to leave the islands when the sun goes down or when the 10:00 o'clock mark is reached. Instead, it is rather the usual thing to find the cabin and tents occupied for the night by adventurous souls who spend a night out. By including a faculty member in the party, groups of students are able to secure permission to stay till sun-up or class time.

VIEW OF POOL

Swimming Pool

DURING the past year swimming really made a place for itself in the athletic activities of the college. Besides the regular classes for beginning and advanced swimmers, a class was organized in life saving.

Recreational swimming has always been a part of the recreational program of the college for both men and women. This year to stimulate a still greater interest in swimming, the men of the college initiated a Splash Club.

One of the things which the club did was to institute an organization, the Knights of the Sea, destined to include every man on the campus who wished to get more fun and competition from swimming. Everyone engaged in competitive water stunts, swimming, and diving. Contests were held and points were awarded on the basis of achievement and on the difficulty of the event. In order to decide which games were to be played on a particular day, Norman Bailey worked out a novel Wheel of Fortune.

One of the biggest aquatic events of the year staged at the Eastman Hall pool was the "Big Splash" presented by the newly organized Splash Club. Charter members of the club who took part in the demonstration and who are American Red Cross Life Savers, or examiners included Walter Hiebert, Herbert Rupp, Wayne Bailey, Jack Bensen, Robert Aidem, Al Kempton, Wheeler Van Steinburg, and Craig Van Steinburg. The "Big Splash" combined humorous, entertaining, instructive, and spectacular activities including swimming, life saving, canoeing, diving, and water stunts.

Not to be outdone by the male splashers, the Women's Life Saving Corps and other women swimmers of the college presented an interesting and entertaining water pageant in which they developed the history of swimming.

The story was begun by Father Neptune, played by Mary Stewart. Neptune calls for Davy Jones, portrayed by Janet Wentworth, to bring up the manuscript, "How Swimming Grew Up". As Neptune reads the script shades of the departed swimmers appear and go through the actions and stunts accredited them in history. The Stone Age swimmers running away from the on-rushing tiger were especially amusing. Everyone doubted that Fern Schiedinger could yell that loudly, but everyone learned.

The Japanese swimming formation was really a novelty. In the darkened pool the girls swam into various figures carrying long slender poles, topped with Japanese lanterns lighted by candles.

Jacqueline Brick and Marien Strobel were in charge of the pageant and did much of the work in preparation for it. They were advised by Miss Case and Miss Hupp.

SWIMMERS' PARADISE

The Quarry Pool

ST. CLOUD Teachers College is proud of its out-door swimming pool, one of the finest natural swimming pools in the country. Two years ago the college purchased a number of the quarries east of the river and since then has transformed the largest of the three Hilder quarry pools into a swimmers' paradise.

During 1936 the pool was closed so that further improvements might be made. Loose rocks were removed and the granite wall surrounding the pool was leveled off so that it now has lost many of its "quarry-hole" features and has taken on the appearance of a large artificial pool. To further beautify the pool, a nursery has been planted around it. A dock, raft, diving boards, and two dressing rooms have been constructed for the enjoyment and convenience of the swimmers. The new rejuvenated quarry pool will be ready for use by June first.

Although only experienced swimmers are allowed to use the quarry pool, a life guard is employed throughout the swimming season.

Quarry pools have many advantages over other natural swimming places. The spring water which fills the solid rock cavity is always crystal clear, so clear that rocks many feet below the surface can be plainly seen through the still water. The pool is deep; swimmers can "dive right in" from any place on the edge of the pool. Throughout the summer the ever fresh supply of spring water is kept refreshingly cool by a solid granite shore. There is never any current or wind to impede swimmers. Swimming in the quarry pool is just exactly like swimming in a huge artificial outdoor pool, only better.

With the numerous advantages for outdoor recreation, the college now offers a course in camp counselling. The object of the course is to acquaint the teacher with the wonderful possibilities in teaching the out-doors to the young child during the summer months. Most of the classes meet on the college islands, where camp cooking, camping programs, and camp-fire ceremonies are demonstrated and discussed. Specialists in the various fields give the instruction. Numerous trips are also made to the quarry pools for picnics and swimming demonstrations and instructions. This work has been co-ordinated with the Boy Scout courses which have been offered during the school year. Students, Norman Olson and Jack Bensen have greatly assisted in this instruction of which Mr. O. J. Jerde is in charge.

Baseball

THE appointment of John Debolock and Jay Johnstone as the two student coaches auspiciously marked the beginning of the 1937 baseball season. Both coaches are outstanding T. C. athletes, their stellar diamond work being but one of their outstanding achievements. With ten veterans and a dozen or more rookies reporting for practice, the player-coaches whipped the squad into shape for the opener against the Concordia Junior College nine. The Red and Black came through in record breaking style to win 21 to 4 in a furious six-inning tussle. Pete Rock, local "All-American rookie" had the distinction of scoring twice in a single inning, crediting himself with a triple and a circuit clout. Other practice events on the Teachers College card included a game with the St. John's nine, the 1936 State College champs and top-place leaders for the same honors this year at which time St. Cloud came out the winners, 2-1. Twin bills with River Falls Teachers College and Mankato Teachers College as well as return games with St. John's and Concordia Junior College rounded out the Ped schedule. Additional games with the Reformatory nine, the Granite City semi-pros, and other near teams were added to the schedule.

Prominent on the squad were the veterans, Jacobs and Odanovich on the mound, Johnson and Johnstone behind the bat, Debolock, Champa, and Rengel in the infield, and Curran and Kazeck in the outfield. New comers who landed more or less regular berths were Rock at first, Henningsgaard at short, and Smith at third. Last year's team did not fare well in winning games, but all their losses were close, interesting, and hard fought victories for the opponents. Concordia Junior College, River Falls Teachers College, and the Reformatory Red Caps bested the Peds. A two-game series with the nearby St. John's squad resulted in a victory for St. Cloud. This year's team should set a better mark by the end of the school year, since the nucleus of the team consists of stellar veteran players. A particularly smooth infield and a shut-out battery gives the opposing club plenty of trouble. Besides, the St. Cloud club carries a gang of consistent, hard hitters who can put the college ahead of most pitchers.

Unfortunately, the necessity of playing on a far-off diamond has decreased interest in the game, especially among the student spectators. Completion of the new athletic field should restore the "national pastime" to its proper status at the college.

Track

THE outstanding group of trackmen who set new records in almost every meet and added fresh laurels to the college in 1936 are out to repeat their success again this year. Last season, the squad, ably coached by Mr. Warren Kasch, made two of the four new records set at the N. S. T. C. meet, held at Mankato on May 22, ranking forth with 41 $\frac{3}{4}$ points. Running true to form, Norman Bailey, St. Cloud track ace, added the two-mile record to his collection of victories in the time of 10 minutes, 46.3 seconds; he also won the half-mile but failed to better his own all-time mark of the previous season. His spectacular running in the Finnish Range meet on June 22 brought him first place in the half-mile, mile, and 5 mile events. Bailey climaxed his 1936 season by participating in the 10,000 meter race of the sectional Olympic tryouts at Milwaukee. John Debolock, the cinder path captain, manipulated the discus, javelin, and the weights to turn in several first at various track meets. He was high point man at the St. John's track meet and won points for the Ped squad in every meet of the season.

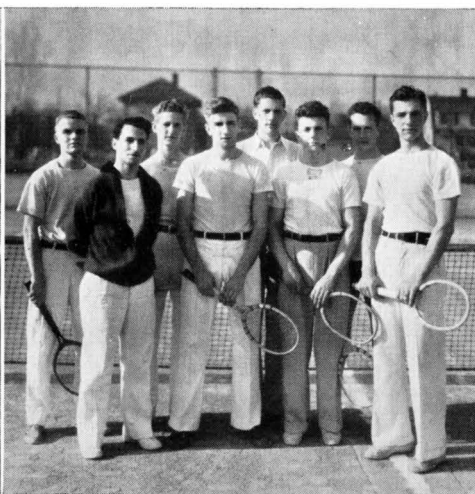

Wheeler Van Steinburg habitually carried off the honors in the broad and high-jump events; this year he also entered the pole vault competition. A record smasher in his Freshman year, Harold Jacobs specialized in setting new marks almost every time he threw the javelin. At the N. S. T. C. meet, he hurled it 179 feet 8 inches for a new conference record; to this distance he added 8 $\frac{1}{2}$ inches in the Finnish Range Invitational meet held June 22. Ed LaMuth represented the squad in the broad jump and pole vault events, winning first place in the latter event in two meets.

Since the weakness of the 1936 Ped Track team was in the dashes, Coach Kasch is taking greater pains to groom several men for the shorter runs. Virgil Sales, Howard Johnson, Eugene Avery and Virgil Herzog are sprinting for the college this season. Heading the relays is another veteran cinder-path runner, Richard Winter, who will team up with several members of the squad in this event. Several practice engagements with other colleges will precede the big field day at Moorhead. The opener on May 8 was a quadrangular event at Hamline University with St. John's and St. Thomas also participating. A dual meet with St. John's was held May 14. On May 22, a triangular get-together was staged at St. John's with St. Thomas college also participating. The northwest teachers colleges are meeting at Moorhead for the 1937 Track meet.

Golf and Tennis

THE phenomenal rise of golf as a major intercollegiate sport found the Teachers College Team of St. Cloud taking a leading position among the colleges of Minnesota. Witness the repeated success of the Ped golfers against the toughest competition on the links. In 1932, the first year of intercollegiate golf for T. C., the team lost only a single match in four engagements. The succeeding year saw the team's average raised to five wins with a single loss. In 1934, there were two Ped losses out of six matches; in 1936, the golfers took eight consecutive games. Last year, Coach Larry Reider's putters won the highest honors at the annual golf meet for the northwest Teachers Colleges of Minnesota; Willard Kottke, freshman golfing ace, triumphed over a group of veteran competitors to win the N. S. T. C. title. His six-stroke victory over Tom Hansel, the veteran Mankato entree, climaxed the rise of golf at the college and gave promise of a better team for the 1937 season. This year, Captain Willard Kottke and Ray Freund, the two veteran members of the squad, led the team, composed of George Anderson, Pete Rock, Edward O'Malley, and George Petty. Practice games with the University of North Dakota, Hibbing, Eveleth, St. John's, and St. Thomas Colleges groomed the team for the tournament. This annual event is slated for the Moorhead State Teachers College on May 29. The Red and Black should come through with top honors again this year.

A GREAT favorite among the varsity sports is the ever-popular game of tennis. Always a fast, exciting, and hard-fought battle, intercollegiate tennis commands a select group of players who draw a large crowd of fans. Each year, about a dozen devotees of the courts respond to coach Colletti's call for aspirants and begin drilling on fundamentals inside the gymnasium. As soon as weather permits, the outside courts are put in shape and the racqueteers take open-air work-outs. Repeated practice matches are slated each year in preparation for the annual tennis meet. The T. C. record shows that the Red and Black swept over all their opponents to keep their slate untarnished. Last year, they defeated St. John's three times, Concordia College and River Falls T. C. twice. The S. S. T. C. meet, scheduled to have been held at St. Cloud on May 22, was rained out.

This year, nine practice games are on tap for the squad. The opening on April 24 against St. Thomas College was postponed because of rain. However, on April 28, the Peds won their initial match from the Concordia Junior College netmen, 5 to 1. The St. Cloud team next met the Tommies on May 1. Their matches with Mankato, Winona and St. John's rounded out a fine season. The big drive of the year—the N. S. T. C. tennis meet at Moorhead on May 29—finds the Colletti men in fine shape for another assault on the title.

The Freshman Class

UNDER the leadership of James Robb, assisted by Earl Bohm, vice president; Verona Gunderson, secretary; Virgil Herzog, treasurer; Georgine Johnson, W. S. G. A. Board representative; and Alice Gehant, Publications Board representative, the Freshman Class has spent its first successful year at the St. Cloud State Teachers College. This class exhibited more than the usual amount of enthusiasm through their initiating the wearing of class insignia, green caps and badges.

This class early exhibited its talents. The class engaged in the homecoming activities by presenting a skit as well as having several of its members serve on Homecoming committees. The class again won laurels in the presentation of its traditional class play. The cast included Doris Zahn, Ruth Benzon, Leland Kline, Stanley Hoiruus, Fred Kapphahn, Ilene Carlson, Mary Antognozzi, James Robb, and Donald Runquist. The efficient work of the production staff helped to make this one of the most prominent undertakings of the year.

In Extra-curricular activities, we find Freshman Class members participating in all fields. On the gridiron, Glen Armstrong, Gene Avery, Wayne Bailey, Walter Miller, and Pete Rock were outstanding. In basketball, Gene Avery, Eugene Beatty, Louis Feuerstein, Bob Hamline, Clarence Molestad, Orlin Peik, Pete Rock, and Maynard Sakry represented the class. Wayne Bailey, Dennis Booker, Bernard Broderick and Harold Lehto played hockey. Many participated in intramural sport activities. Many of the class were active in dramatics. Doris Hojem and James Robb were in the Blackfriar play. In school publications, many of the class participated. Clara Bertels, Joe Dobsen, and William Nierengarten debated for the class. The Freshman class was well represented in the music department by Alice Gehant, Virgil Herzog, Helen Locke, Milton Sand, and Howard Severson. Many members claimed distinction in scholastic achievements.

The entire class looked forward to April 24 when the Freshman Prom was held at Eastman Hall. A New York penthouse theme added atmosphere.

Miss Lilleskov and Mr. Lynch, as advisers, proved capable guides to this class of 247 who are now looking forward to a successful sophomore year.

Sophomore Class

THE school year of nineteen thirty-six and nineteen thirty-seven was an eventful year for the group of students known as the sophomores. Before nineteen thirty-six had become part of the past, each member of the class had some definite ideas as to the duration of his college life. Those who had just a year in which to make or break their chances of becoming good teachers, took practice teaching seriously, and strove to meet all other class requirements. They knew teaching was a serious business and they didn't hesitate to tell their degree classmates of the problems with which they had to cope. The degree students lived in anticipation of these same problems. At regular intervals during the year, there were people missing from our midst—where had they gone?—To the country for six weeks of practice teaching! They worked hard, but they seemed to enjoy this new experience required of all two year students.

Besides learning and applying pedagogy, principles, and methods of teaching, college life was made more interesting by participation in various fields of activity. The year began by helping to make orientation a success. Homecoming was next to receive attention. The ingenuity of both those who provided ideas and those who carried them out was rewarded by "Honorable Mention" for the sophomore float depicting "Progress in Transportation."

Meetings were held for the purpose of electing a Vice President to take the place vacated by Dorothy Heywood, now the Registrar's secretary. Martha Carr became the new Vice President. The officers who had been elected the previous spring were: Louis Erickson, President; Mildred Egerstrom, Secretary; Kenneth Barrett, Treasurer; Eleanor Evans, W. S. G. A. Board; John Boehm, Publications Board. At another meeting Miss Ethel Graves and Mr. Richard Smith were chosen as our faculty advisers. Charles Erickson was elected at the first class meeting of spring quarter to succeed the class treasurer, Kenneth Barrett, who left school.

Sophomores were prominent in Music—Art—Athletics—Dramatics—Debate—Organizations—and social functions throughout the year.

Our best efforts were put forth to make the Spring Formal a success. April sixteenth brought many to Eastman Hall to dance to Dobie's orchestra—to see the decorations and to take part in the Grand March. It was the big event of the last Spring many sophomores will enjoy at T. C.

A number of graduating sophomores served on the various committees which had been chosen to prepare for an extensive program of spring graduation activities. In order that the graduating sophomores might enjoy themselves during the last of their stay, the non-graduating sophomores took over the complete supervision of the graduates tea.

Junior Class

THE Junior Class, made up of students who are in their third year of the four year course, and those who have returned to college to obtain their degrees, has been led through a year of all-college activities by Julius Whiting, president, assisted by Lucile Rupp, vice president; Marion Niskern, secretary; and Lee Henningsgaard, treasurer. Helen Curry represented the class on the W. S. G. A. Board, and Mary Ahles and Ole Nuland presented the journalistic interests of the class to the Board of Publications. The policies of the class were guided by Miss Helen Hill and Mr. Warren Kasch, advisers.

Participation in the gigantic homecoming parade opened the activities of the class as a whole. During the fall several members played outstanding football: John Debolock, Jay Johnstone, and Joe Odonovich. The basketball team appreciated John Debolock, Al Pagenkopf, Jay Johnstone, Ira Baron, and Joe Odonovich for their fine contributions to that sport. In other sports also juniors were outstanding. Norman Bailey set enviable records in track, and John Debolock and Jay Johnstone played the double roles of players and coaches in baseball.

Laurels in women's sports were attained for the class by Helen Curry, Margaret Ruehle, and Mary Hamilton.

Among the fine arts, Julius Whiting, Arnold Woestehoff, Winnifred Chute, Edwin Johnson, and Esther Asleson were outstanding in music. The six juniors who are members of Alpha Psi Omega, national dramatic fraternity are Marion Niskern, Ramon Heimerl, Norman Bailey, Patricia Phillips, Laura Simer, and Fred Gudridge. They form the largest class representation in the group. Other juniors interested in the dramatic arts were members of the Blackfriars local dramatic group.

Throughout the year the journalists—Ramon Heimerl, Mary Ahles, and William Cochrane, publicized the above and other activities.

Having two aviators in the class is a special honor. These two, Mary Hamilton and Chester Heinzel, have been active in a number of other college activities.

The activities of the class ended with the Junior Ball given on April 30, for the seniors. The Junior Class, having completed this year, is now ready to vacation with pleasant memories of its past activities and in anticipation of the coming year when it will be known by that coveted title, senior class.

Treasurer

Senior Class

UNDER the capable leadership of Paul Bixby, the 1937 senior class was conducted through a very successful year. Assisting the president were the following officers: Ed LaMuth, vice president; Phyllis Lagergren, secretary; and Leif Hougen, treasurer.

This year, as in former years, the seniors played prominent roles in many college activities and organizations. The Chronicle, Talahi, Kappa Delta Pi, Alpha Psi Omega, Student Council, and W. A. A. are a few of the organizations in which seniors were prominent. Athletics, debate, art, music, dramatics and societies all found a large number of their supporters among the members of the class.

Many of the outstanding events of the school year were led by seniors. The Orientation Week program, headed by Mary Stewart, proved one of the most successful we have had at the college. Freshmen caps and badges were introduced by this year's committee, and were instrumental in unifying the new group of students. John Benson did a splendid job as general chairman of Homecoming activities. Many alumni were back to enjoy the parade, football game, dance and other functions planned by the various committees appointed by Mr. Benson. Lorna Sarff managed this year's Talahi Revue, which proved a big success, with the Al Sirats again taking the cup. The annual ice carnival was also headed by a senior, John Curran. Many of the outstanding fancy skaters of the United States were brought here to perform for the St. Cloud audience.

The Senior Class, along with other organizations and classes, contributed its part toward making the womens' lounge a reality.

Tore Allegrezza, a senior, was selected to represent the college at the N. S. F. A. convention in New York during Christmas vacation. He brought back many worth-while ideas and plans which were discussed at the meetings of the council.

The greatest achievement of this year's senior class was the Senior All-college Party in April. Ted Shiffer was the chairman who did much to make the party so successful. Eastman Hall became Eastman Club for the evening, featuring reserved tables, waiters and waitresses to serve the guests, a floor show, and a large band to supply the music. Boyanna Popovich, in charge of decorations deserves very much credit for the job she did.

Commencement week, with committees headed largely by seniors, proved a successful finish to four years of college activity. Committees for caps and gowns, jewelry, announcements, graduates assembly, graduates dinner and the processional were all under senior supervision.

The class was fortunate in having as advisers Miss Evalin Pribble and Mr. Herbert Clugston, who did much to make the year such a successful one for the 1937 senior class.
