"Everybody was nervous, everybody was upset, everybody was scared in one way or another."

Stories of Wisdom from Bodies in Separation (SWaBS)
"Everybody was nervous, everybody was upset, everybody was scared in one way or another."

Cover Page Footnote
Stories of Wisdom from Bodies in Separation (SWaBS): Archiving the Coronavirus Pandemic Through the Lens of Humanities has been made possible by a major grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities: Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Security (CARES) Act. Any views, findings, conclusions, or recommendations expressed in this project, do not necessarily represent those of the National Endowment for the Humanities.

This article is available in Survive & Thrive: A Journal for Medical Humanities and Narrative as Medicine: https://repository.stcloudstate.edu/survive_thrive/vol6/iss1/46
"Everybody was nervous, everybody was upset, everybody was scared in one way or another."

Cautious by Elizabeth Minor

"Everybody was nervous, everybody was upset, everybody was scared in one way or another, but it was in one way or another. Everybody had their reasons. Some of us handled it better than others. I don’t know what else to say." --Timothy Broman