

Survive & Thrive: A Journal for Medical Humanities and Narrative as Medicine

Volume 6
Issue 1 "I Think You're Muted': Voices from the Coronavirus Pandemic"

Article 52

2021

"They just handed you a Ziploc bag with a little water bottle and a snack in it."

Stories of Wisdom from Bodies in Separation (SWaBS)

Follow this and additional works at: https://repository.stcloudstate.edu/survive_thrive

Part of the Medical Humanities Commons

Recommended Citation

Stories of Wisdom from Bodies in Separation (SWaBS) (2021) "They just handed you a Ziploc bag with a little water bottle and a snack in it.", Survive & Thrive: A Journal for Medical Humanities and Narrative as Medicine: Vol. 6 : Iss. 1 , Article 52.

Available at: https://repository.stcloudstate.edu/survive_thrive/vol6/iss1/52

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by theRepository at St. Cloud State. It has been accepted for inclusion in Survive & Thrive: A Journal for Medical Humanities and Narrative as Medicine by an authorized editor of theRepository at St. Cloud State. For more information, please contact tdsteman@stcloudstate.edu.

“They just handed you a Ziploc bag with a little water bottle and a snack in it.”

Cover Page Footnote

Stories of Wisdom from Bodies in Separation (SWaBS): Archiving the Coronavirus Pandemic Through the Lens of Humanities has been made possible by a major grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities: Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Security (CARES) Act. Any views, findings, conclusions, or recommendations expressed in this project, do not necessarily represent those of the National Endowment for the Humanities.

Survive & Thrive: A Journal for Medical Humanities and Narrative as Medicine

Manuscript 1235

“They just handed you a Ziploc bag with a little water bottle and a snack in it.”

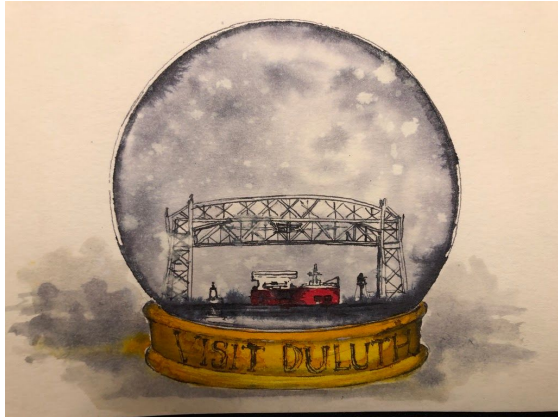

Stories of Wisdom from Bodies in Separation (SWaBS)

Follow this and additional works at: https://repository.stcloudstate.edu/survive_thrive

Part of the Medical Humanities Commons

“They just handed you a Ziploc bag with a little water bottle and a snack in it.”

Global by Krista Sue-Lo Twu

We took a trip to Colorado Springs [...] that's something that we did later on when we felt like it was safe to do so. [...] The TSA check-ins were... They felt the same. You really didn't notice it until you went to get on the plane, and then they handed you a little baggy with sanitizer wipes in it so that you wipe down your seat and everything before you sat down. Normally, they would give out maybe soda and snacks, they just handed you a Ziploc bag with a little water bottle and a snack in it. And they walked by wearing gloves and masks and did that, and everyone was spread apart. And then they also mentioned that the plane had HEPA filtration that would circulate the air every minute.

And so you could tell that they were really trying to be careful in what they were doing, so I guess I didn't feel threatened at all. I didn't. They also made sure no one had a fever before they traveled and no one was coughing or sneezing, simple things like that too. --Aaron Klos