Castro Hung in Effigy

Cuban dictator Fidel Castro was hung in effigy by St. Cloud State students Wednesday. Evidently in sympathy with the rebel forces attacking the Communist-ruled government of the Caribbean island, the students used the motto "Cast Castro" to decorate the effigy.

The effigy of the bearded Cuban dictator was hung in front of St. Cloud State's early Wednesday morning. It was cut down a short time later by some college workmen.

When asked about the incident, a faculty member said, "At least there are some students on the campus who know who Castro is."

Flying Team to Defend NIFA Title Next Week

St. Cloud Aero-Club will defend its national flying championship at the National Intercollegiate Flying association airmeet April 28-29 at Texas A&M college.

The St. Cloud flying team has won the national honors for the past two years. It is the first team to ever win two consecutive years.

The 10 member St. Cloud team will be accompanied by Dr. George F. Budd, president of the college, and Mr. Philip Tideman, assistant professor of geography and team advisor.

Included in the St. Cloud team is Laura Drayton, junior from St. Cloud, who was named top woman pilot in the NIFA last year. Miss Drayton holds a commercial pilot's license and has accumulated over 325 hours of flying time.

The other nine members of this year's team include three veterans of last year's competition at Ohio State university. They are Robert Anderson, team captain and a senior from North Branch; Billy Weis, junior from Eden Valley; and Russ Scott, junior from Minneapolis.

National Defense Loans

National Defense Loans Student desiring application for National Defense Loans for summer sessions and/or fall quarter should apply now in room 108 Stewart hall.

These loans are available to students in all fields of study.

Wolff, Johnson, Pearson Named Class Presidents

Robert Wolff was elected senior class president for 1961-62 in Wednesday's election. Wolff, from St. Cloud, was a close victor over Larry Harris. Billy Weis, vice president; Dorothy Thielges, secretary; and Leland Rosenquist, treasurer, were the other senior officers elected.

Class officers and student council representatives were at stake in this week's election. Council officer positions were filled in last week's election.

NSP Manager McLeland Named Resident Director

Mr. L. K. McLeland, division manager of the Northern States Power company in St. Cloud, has been named resident director for St. Cloud State college on the State College Board.

The State College Board, which is the governing body of the five state colleges, is composed of eight members appointed by the governor, with the State Commissioner of Education serving as an ex-officio member. Of the eight appointed by the governor, one State College Board member must be appointed from each county in which a state college is located. This appointee serves as resident director for that particular college.

Mr. McLeland, who has lived in St. Cloud since 1951, has served two terms as president of the St. Cloud Jr. Chamber of Commerce. He is a president of St. Cloud Opportunities, Inc., has served as president of the Central Minnesota Council of Boy Scouts for three years, and is past president of the Lions club.

"It feels that it will be an honor as well as a responsibility to serve as director," said Mr. McLeland, who lives at 1 Woodhill Road.

Dr. George F. Budd, president of St. Cloud State, said, "We have always been fortunate in having capable men as resident director. The appointment of Mr. McLeland continues this tradition."

L. K. McLeland

"We are looking forward to his wise counsel and assistance in developing the programs of the college," Dr. George Budd concluded.

Cap and Gown Measuring

Graduating seniors at St. Cloud State should be measured for caps and gowns at the college book store. The deadline for ordering the caps and gowns is April 28. The price is $3.50, payable in advance.

Graduation announcements may be ordered at the book store too. The price is 14c each. Graduation is June 10.

Student-Faculty Conference Agrees State College Has Fine National Image

The public image of St. Cloud State college was discussed at an all-day conference last Saturday at Talahi lodge. Nearly 40 students and a faculty members participated in the affair.

Dr. George Budd, president of St. Cloud State, opened the conference with a short talk defining the areas of our public image.

We have to be concerned with the student's image of the college, the faculty and administration's image, the St. Cloud community's image, central Minnesota's image, Minnesota's image, and the nation's image.

In a round table discussion by Joyce Brown, Leon Knight, Dr. Charles Emery, Dr. James Harris, Mr. Stanley Selstrom, and Mr. Earl Henning, past-president of the Alumni association, it was generally agreed that St. Cloud State has a fine national reputation.

The main problem with our public image the committee decided, is that the students at St. Cloud State, and the people in the St. Cloud community and central Minnesota do not realize what a fine educational institution St. Cloud State really is.

In the general discussions and small group discussions that followed, the main problem was to suggest ways of presenting the fine qualities of St. Cloud State to the various publics.

At the end of the conference, an action committee was named to gather all the suggestions together in a reasonable manner and forward them to the people who could implement them. The action committee's report should be available before next week.

The junior class officers are Rod Johnson, president; Jack Schmidt, vice president; Joyce Hunt, secretary; and Mary Jo Dixon, treasurer.

Elected to head the sophomore class are Bruce Pearson, president; Ron Duncan, vice president; Pat Nelson, secretary; and Linda Waysman, treasurer.

The 10 student council representatives elected Wednesday are Rod Brodny, Dick Busch, Don Russell, Maureen Donnelly, William Hall, Barbara Knipping, Jane Lund, Dick Mesenburg, Gary Parker, and Pete Sulka.

The presidents elected from each class serve on the student council too.

A total of 510 votes were cast in the election.

The student council officers, representatives, and class presidents will assume the council positions at the May 1 meeting of the student government.

AWS Convention Starts Tonight

Mrs. Wright Brooks, active in YWCA work in Minneapolis, has been chosen as the main speaker at the formal AWS convention banquet.

The banquet will be held this Friday evening, April 21, in the Stewart hall cafeteria. Dinner music and State talent will be included at the banquet. The movie, "Imitation of Life" will be shown at the science and math auditorium following the banquet.

The theme, "Without a Woman" will be carried out throughout the two-day convention. Following a breakfast to be held Saturday morning for those attending the convention, Dean Gerda Mrosonen, of Augsburg college, will speak on how other college women are doing by what standards they live. Discussion groups will meet immediately following this to discuss the following topics: 1) How to forget Emily Post? 2) Classes—Challenged or Unchallenged? 3) Is State for the social set?

A luncheon will be held Saturday night at the Mitchell hall, snack bar. Lucille Heinen will give a display, using her own models for a demonstration purposes, Saturday afternoon.

The convention will close with an afternoon tea Saturday, according to co-chairman Dorothy Thielges and Karen Hansen.

Selective Service

Selective Service All non-veterans who wish to stay in school next fall should come to room 108 and fill out a Selective Service form 109, according to Mr. John Weismann, assistant dean of students.

The purpose of this form is to notify Selective Service that you have been in school, how you are rated in your class, and that you are eligible to return to college.

This must be done before you leave this spring. You are urged to do this at once," said Mr. Weismann.

Student Council Filing Shows Increase in Campus Interest

Brace yourself for a shock! At last an editorial complementing rather than berating our student body is about to appear in the College Chronicle.

On a more serious note, we feel the tremendous response of our students to the recent student council and class officer elections is worthy of special comment. Those of you who voted could not help but notice the unusual length of the ballot for student council representative. Forty people filed for this position, ten will be selected to be on the council.

The number of people filing, we hope, is an indication of increased interest in student government on our campus. We are not certain, but feel relatively sure that this is an all time high for people filing. Perhaps this coming year's council will receive the support it so badly needs and richly deserves.

At the risk of sounding a little corny I would like to propose a slogan for the 1961-62 council and challenge them to live up to it. It is: "We'll represent you in '62."

Letter to the editor:

Social Organizations Defended

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE SUPPRESSED MAJORITY

"Break the Frat Habit", "Down with politics and social organizations", "Representation for Everyone". Recently these slogans were seen proudly decking the halls of ivy on our campus. They were an appeal to the suppressed majority. In case you don't know who you are, you are the two-thousand, two-hundred students who failed to even vote April 12th in the student council election. It was to you that a campaign of hate and half-truths was directed.

I have never pledged a society, but I do not consider myself part of the suppressed majority. I found no difficulty at all in becoming as active on campus as the most ardent social member, which seems to be evidenced by my selection for Who's Who. I discovered what all active people on campus know: If you are willing to work, any number of opportunities are crying for your services. Yet when I had to find people to work on committees I found person after person would reply they didn't care to do it. The suppressed majority was not interested. Only when I turned to people in the social organizations on Campus, could I find help. Now why is this the case?

First of all, the people who join social organizations are the ones who are interested in this campus. They are not the students, but rather they are willing to contribute their time and effort.

Some people will call these individuals "glory hounds", whatever that means. I suggest the name callers are the ones who are perfectly satisfied to let someone else do the work. Remember how much they really receive for any of this work. How many members of New Student Week committee do you remember? How many from Homecoming? Snodys? Who is serving on student council? Who meets weekly for Social Activities Committee? Yet the suppressed majority enjoy the fruits of these labors. The hours of work put in are many, the "glory" very minimal and short lived. The criticism is quick and merciless. Wouldn't you agree these people are entitled to something for their efforts?

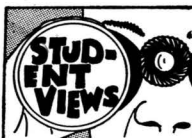

Yes, the work that is done on this campus is done by a few, and these few are the willing, not the socially and politically elite. Why are so many of these individuals in societies and fraternities? Because these groups seek out as members those people who demonstrate potential and willingness for leadership. I don't mean to imply they have ALL the leaders, or even most of them, but this is the specific type of person you seek for membership. Secondly they encourage their members to be active on campus, even when this hinders the organization. Frequently, these organizations complain that so many of their people are involved in campus activities, they haven't enough available members left to work on organization projects. Despite this, they continue to support any school function, being sure to be their province as social organizations. Apparently we don't agree with their philosophy. Perhaps these organizations should concentrate their efforts contributing to their own groups, and allow the eager majority to take care of all campus events. If we don't want them to do this job, the opportunity is even open to anyone else who may want it.

No, I have never desired to belong to a social organization, nor felt it imperative that I do so, for this reason I do not refuse to recognize that out of the 426 positions presently open in the areas of student leadership and other extra-curricular chores I have omitted any purely honorary positions, and concentrated on those things which require time. These past two quarters, 56% were in social organizations, and 41% were in the two organizations most criticized. In other words 1/30th of the student body does 56% of the work on student activities. Now when this points out that the social organizations carry a heavy burden in filling these positions, it also demonstrates that there are no more jobs available for anyone who wants them. At least I am willing to recognize all the hours this represents. Perhaps this college isn't yet mature enough or sophisticated enough to recognize the values of fraternities and societies to this campus. Perhaps we are a big money, give credit where credit is due. Perhaps we are too willing to call someone else a snob and a status seeker. Perhaps we are who are the snobs when we consider ourselves too self important to show our appreciation for the time and energy they have put forth. I have yet to see a student thank the chairman of any event for the enjoyable evening he has provided. A little humility and self-appraisal on our part might well be in place before we demand it of others. The members of social organizations on this campus, in the past, and at the present time have demonstrated their worth. I don't see how anyone can fairly say they deserve our ridicule.

I for one would rather be classed with the "political and social" monopoly on this campus than with the suppressed majority. The "monopoly" may be composed of status seekers, or any name you care to call, but at least they do something; at least they vote; at least they care.

Karen Pollock

Thanks Expressed

To the Editor:
I would like to take this opportunity to express my gratitude to all the students who showed confidence in me in the recent election. I would also like to say thank you to all the people who worked on the campaign. My only hope is that I can justify their confidence in me by doing everything in my power to give St. Cloud State college the type of government it deserves. It is my hope and desire that in the following school year each and every student at St. Cloud State will feel free to offer any suggestions to me concerning student government. In this way, I hope that you will feel that you are an integral part of the government and that all the officers delegates. It is up to you to tell them exactly how you feel about your issues which we may be discussing for in this, and in only this way will we be able to know how you feel.

Those of you who were present at the river swim a year ago will remember that the Al Sirats were challenged and beaten by Athenaeum Society, contrary to what the Al Sirats have claimed throughout the past year, although by the use of a TOW ROPE their swimmers did teach the shore first. In the years before this they swam the river without other competition and are therefore correct in claiming an unbeaten record for these years.

New Repeat Policy Set for Next Fall

According to the academic dean, Herbert A. Clugston, students will not be permitted to repeat general education courses in the fall quarter of 1961. Cases of extreme hardship will be handled on an individual basis. The purpose of the new policy is to prevent overloading these sections in the fall quarter. New students have had difficulty making desirable programs. Dr. Clugston pointed out. Expenditures he noted were English 132 and 233 and Social Science 301.

Dr. Lawton Speaks Sat. At Reading Conference

Some 600 classroom teachers and a reading specialists from throughout the state are expected to attend a sixth annual conference of the Minnesota Reading Association Saturday, April 22, at St. Cloud State college.

Main speaker will be Dr. James Lawton, assistant director of the Child Psychiatry Unit at the University of Minnesota Hospitals. His subject will be "School Failure and Emotional Disturbance."

The meeting will open at 9:45 a.m. in Stewart hall auditorium with a welcome by Dr. Charles Balcer, associate academic dean. After Dr. Lawton's address, members of the association will go to the college cafeteria and two local churches for lunch. More than 25 exhibitors will display reading aids in the Stewart hall main lounge.

During the afternoon, 12 group discussions will be conducted on a wide range of subjects in the field of reading. Among the topics will be "Early Signs of Potential Reading Failure," "Developing Listening Skills to Improve Reading," "Motivating the Poor Reader," and "Teaching Reading to Emotionally Disturbed Children."

Dr. Bruce Balow, director of the Psycho-Educational Clinic at the University of Minnesota, is conference chairman.

The Central Minnesota Reading Council, headed by Dr. Arnold Zaeske, is in charge of local arrangements. Other members of the committee are Mrs. Eleanor Campbell, Mrs. Florence Bennett, Mrs. Sue Moss, Miss Mary Peterson, Miss Lucille Maier, Miss Audrey Crawford and Miss Eva Cook.

Parents' Weekend Set for May 12-14

Parents Weekend, replacing the old Parents Day, is scheduled for May 12-14 at St. Cloud State college.

The emphasis during this event will be on showing the parents the accomplishments of the students and showing the facilities that are available on our campus. It will not be just a social event, Mrs. Mildred Jones, assistant dean of students, said.

Displays by the various departments and a chance to meet the various professors will be among the events planned, Mrs. Jones said. The faculty members will be in the different departments during Friday afternoon and Saturday morning so the parents will have a chance to meet them.

Jim Kornovich, senior, and Sonja Kreh, senior, are the student co-chairmen in charge of the event.

Smoking Rules Disregarded

Because of considerable student disregard of the smoking regulations in Stewart hall, President George P. Budd has directed the Student Personnel office to take necessary steps to remedy the problem. He announced that if students continue to violate the smoking restrictions, it may become necessary to ban smoking in Stewart hall altogether.

"In Stewart hall, smoking is permitted in the second floor lounge and in the second and third floor hallways and lavatories. Smoking is not permitted on the first floor or in classrooms. Cigarette butts must be deposited in the appropriate receptacles," Dr. Zumwinkle said.

Auditions Held In New York

Mr. R. Keith Michael, assistant director of the St. Cloud State theatre department, left Thursday for New York to audition actors for the new college affiliated summer theatre, Theatre L'Homme Dieu. The theatre is located near Alexandria.

In addition to New York, Mr. Michael will hold auditions at Pittsburgh.

Last Sunday, Mr. Michael and Dr. Arthur L. Housman, director of the theatre department, held an audition in Minneapolis. "We had some fine people tryout," Dr. Housman said.

The complete company for Theatre L'Homme Dieu should be named within the next couple of weeks, Dr. Housman said.

Floor Recovering Completion May 3

Work started Monday on retilling the first floor of Stewart hall. Completion date for the work is May 3, according to Mr. Horro Walton, director of physical resources.

Until the job is completed, the student traffic to and from classes in Stewart hall will be detoured from time to time. Students are asked by Mr. Walton to cooperate and obey the signs and barriers that are posted.

Mary Marklund Chosen SCS Campus Cover Girl

Mary Marklund

Mary Beth Marklund, freshman from Princeton, is St. Cloud State college's cover girl in the seventh annual "Campus Cover Girl" contest sponsored by the Minneapolis Sunday Tribune's Picture magazine.

One of 27 candidates from colleges and universities in Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Miss Marklund's picture will appear in this Sunday's Picture magazine.

Readers may vote for their favorite by completing an official ballot that will appear in the magazine. The photos of the five receiving the highest number of votes will be submitted to a board of judges for the final selection.

The winner of the contest will be featured on the cover of the June 4 issue of Picture. She also will be the subject of a picture story.

Student Teaches Driving in Spare Time

E. R. Jenkins has been teaching driving lessons in his spare time since coming to St. Cloud State. Previously he taught adult lessons for two years in St. Paul.

State students now have the opportunity to receive driving lessons from a credentialed instructor. Mr. Jenkins says the lessons can be taken in his dual control car with the tests being taken in either his car or the car of the student. Appointments for lessons can be arranged through his wife by calling BL 1-7554. The lessons can be either one-half hour or one hour and Mr. Jenkins will pick the student up at his home.

May Daze Set For May 18-21

May Daze, an annual event at St. Cloud State college, will take place May 18-21. For the first time, it will be a four-day festival instead of the usual three days.

The campus carnival will be included in the May Daze festival this year. It will be held along First avenue. Each organization will operate a booth in the carnival, and also put up a candidate for the Most Eligible Bachelor on Campus contest.

Meredith Peterson and Mike Mass are co-chairmen of the event. Anyone willing to work on one of the committees is asked to contact them. Freshmen are especially encouraged to participate.

Sigma Tau Smoker

Beta Sigma chapter of Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity will hold its spring smoker on Tuesday, April 25. The smoker will be held at Talahi Lodge and will start at 7:30 p.m.

Mr. John Kasper, State's baseball coach; Joan Prink, the 1960 homecoming queen, and Jane Lund, Sigma Tau's 1961 sweetheart, will be featured guests and speakers. All men interested in pledging a progressive national fraternity are urged to attend, said Dennis Ringsmuth, fraternity president.

Eastman Echoes

by Joan Petrich

According to Shirl Cargill, tennis sporthead, the following girls will be attending the tennis tournament to be held at Carleton College this Saturday, April 22: Carol Swanson, Mary Jean Monosmith, Jennie Krohn, and Lois Yde. As a reminder, you can take part in tennis every Thursday at 4 p.m.

Our spring snow storm cancelled out Monday's softball meeting outdoors. Some girls did show up for indoor practice and exercise. Next week, if it doesn't snow again, softball will be held outside at 4 p.m. Please meet in Eastman hall, Monday.

Recreational swimming is still meeting at 4 p.m. on Tuesdays. Come to these meetings to be in shape for the coming swimming season—those quaries are pretty deep, and we don't want to lose any of you because you don't know how to swim!

Horseback riders meet on Wednesday and Thursday with three groups riding each day from 4 p.m. until dusk. Check with Louise Henschel or the bulletin board in Eastman for riding schedules.

On Monday, April 24, Mary Jean Monosmith, golf sporthead, will conduct a session with the air of other girls giving information on the driving range and golf course play. Putting, chipping, and swinging aid will be given also. This is an excellent opportunity for beginners and also for vets to polish up on their skills. This session will be held in the main gym at 7 p.m.

Due to the weather this past weekend the fencing meet that had been scheduled did not meet. Nevertheless, seven fencing enthusiasts from State met for a co-ed round robin tournament. Fencing will continue to meet on Thursdays at 4 p.m.

Rosemary Peterson and Jan Huebner are in charge of the State Play Day to be held at Duluth on May 6. Contact either of the girls for information regarding transportation, program, or what have you.

On April 13 and 14, W.A.A. Banquet tickets were sold in Stewart hall ticket booth. However, since so few purchased tickets at this time, we are forced to sell tickets this week, but we must set the date for the banquet on Saturday, April 24! At this time you must have contacted either Kay Inks or Joan Petrich.

If you are unable to pay at this time, we will still be willing to give you "credit" until the night of the banquet. Money seems to be quite short for all of us, but this is one event that shouldn't be passed up so lightly. Think about it, and start saving those pennies.

Without you the banquet can't succeed. Sportsheads should certainly attend, and if they absolutely can, invite the sportsheads for the coming year, without actually telling them they have been designated as sportshead for the coming year. This is announced at the banquet, and new sportsheads are given plaques. New W.A.A. officers should also be present since they will be installed. Now, besides, sportsheads, W.A.A. officers, and chairmen of this event, we invite you. Every woman on campus is invited to attend—no restrictions! Invite your friends and their friends for a very worthwhile experience. That's on April 26, 4 p.m. at the PRESS. GET YOUR TICKETS IMMEDIATELY!

Because of the banquet, W.A.A. activities otherwise scheduled will not meet.

Huskies at Carleton For First Big Meet

The thickends of St. Cloud State will be in Northfield tomorrow for their opening track meet, the annual Carleton Invitational Relays. Last year the Huskies ended in seventh place.

Next week the Huskies host to meets, the first with St. Johns on Tuesday and the second with Mankato State College on Saturday. Both meets are scheduled for Selke Field; the Jay dual match at 3:30 and Mankato's meet at 1:30. Both will give an excellent opportunity for St. Cloud fans to get out and see this year's Huskie squad in action.

This year's squad is as yet untested and has seen limited action outside. Coach Rod Anderson said,

"that the Carleton Relays would give an indication where the strength and weaknesses lie. We should be strong in the hurdles and balanced very well overall."

Headed by Chuck Gustafson, captain and hurdler, the Huskies have 12 returning lettermen. Only eight freshmen are on the 30-odd team.

Lee Ahlbrecht, Ron Lanes, Jack Schwartz, Ed Van Valkenburg, Burny Olson, Greg Spartz, Dale Gardner, John Ewing, and Jim Norine will be some of the lettermen making the trip. Some of the top newcomers also expected to make the trip are Jack Haddorf, Ray LeCuyer, Gary Smith, and Jim Bebus.

Baseball seems to be off to another good start at St. Cloud State college—if the snow and cold holds off. Winning its first three games of the season on the road with the limited action the Huskies had seen outside was a feat in itself. If the cold and snow hadn't cancelled the Augustan and second South Dakota State games, St. Cloud might have an even better record.

Although the season is far from over, a prophet might not be far off predicting a near record season this year. In fact, not a person would think the prediction out of order. Two weeks ago this would not have been true. The Huskies faced a 24 game schedule without a single letterman on the mound.

Around the diamond the Huskies were at least one letterman deep at every position, but pitching wasn't that lucky. Out of literally nowhere, Coach John Kasper has pulled a formidable staff of hurlers, most of them untied, but coming through so far.

Ray Hibbs, southpaw fireballer from Edina, has shown well as has Herb Libbesmeier, a freshman from Kimball, John Evanish, a junior from Ely, impressed Kasper with his work on the spring trip. Bob Theis, Tom Swanson, Don Heurung, and Jack Blizil are some of the material Kasper has rounded out into a pitching squad.

Another, Rog Sadowsky, was lost to the Huskies when he broke a bone in his hand in the Wayne State doubleheader. His loss, thought to be six weeks, will hurt St. Cloud in the future unless Kasper is able to fill in. Don't be surprised if he does it though, and a fine job to boot.

Test Tomorrow

Tomorrow should be the test of Kasper's squad, as they move to Winona for the first two of eight conference games. Perennially one of the top powers in the Northern State College conference, the Warriors should find out if the Huskies will stand up to tough competition or crack with inexperience.

The next four Saturdays will see St. Cloud open and close its home season. A week from tomorrow the Huskies will be in Moorhead for a twin bill and the following week they entertain powerful mankato at Municipal Stadium. On May 13, Bemidji closes out the loop race with a doubleheader in St. Cloud.

Tennis Squad At Mankato Tomorrow

The Huskie tennis squad gets its first real taste of tough competition tomorrow when they tackle Mankato on the Indians' home courts. St. Cloud has had two scrimmages with St. Johns already as Coach Red Severson has been trying to set his team.

Two lettermen head this year's team, Ron Bostic, a senior from Alameda, California, and Larry Sundby, a sophomore from St. Cloud.

At the beginning of the season, Bostic and Sundby were thought to fill the top spots on the team but several newcomers are aiming for top positions also. Tim Templeton, a sophomore from Little Falls, and Bill Gabbert, a freshman from Willmar, have both been giving the two letter winners a tough battle for the one and two spot on the team.

Competition for the top two spots is not the only battle for high honors. Rog Nelson, a frosh from Mound; Bill Kickok, from South St. Paul; Keith Howes, a sophomore from St. Paul; Orr Husby, a freshman from Minneapolis; and Chuck Eklund, a sophomore from Minneapolis are all aiming for more than a mere place on the squad.

The Huskies are stronger this year than they have been, especially through the middle. A high finish in the conference race could materialize this year for the first time in some seasons.
