Cecilians, Orchestra To Give Joint Concert

Miss Myrl Carlson, an instructor of St. Cloud State's music department, will be observing her thirtieth year as director of the Cecilians with a joint concert presented by the Cecilians and the college orchestra. The concert is scheduled for next Thursday at 8 p.m. in Stewart hall auditorium.

The Cecilians, a choral group, fall of 1932. Miss Carlson has been the director since its origin. In Thursday's concert, the Cecilians will be singing highlights from, "The Unsinkable Molly Brown;" and "I Feel Pretty," from "The West Side Story," this year's Academy award winner. The group will also be doing a number made popular by the Kingston Trio, "Bay of Mexico," plus various other selections.

In this year's annual spring concert the orchestra will follow the Cecilians. Directed by Mr. Harvey Waugh, the orchestra will be performing numbers which include an orchestral tone poem taken from "Exodus," and arranged by Robert Russell Bennett; plus a selection from, "The Sound of Music," by Richard Rodgers and arranged by Bennett.

Completing the program for the Cecilians are, "Welcome Sweet Pleasure," by Weelkes; "Golden Trumpets," by Meant; "To Music," by Schubert; "May Night," by Brahms; "Rain at Night," by Austin; "Musetta's Waltz Song" from "La Boheme," by Puccini and "From My Window," by Kendrick.

Other orchestral presentations include, "Marche Hongroise," by Berlioz; first movement from "Violin Concerto in A Minor," by Vivaldi and "Romantic Prelude," by Whitney.

Karen Swanson is the accompanist for the Cecilians.

Phy. Ed. Classes to Begin On Monday

Students enrolled in physical education classes are reminded that many classes begin at mid-quarter, next Monday.

Conference On Student Life Set For Monday

More than thirty selected student leaders expected to participate in the Student Life conference next Monday. The conference will be held at Talhi lodge from 4 to 10 p.m., and will include a buffet supper.

Mike Maas, Student Senate president, will lead the discussion of several issues important in student life. There will be evaluation of this year's work, and clarification of goals for the coming year.

The Student Senate, Associated Women students, and other organizations will be represented by their present officers and those elected for next year. Also attending will be Mrs. Mildred Jones, Dr. Robert Zumwinkle, Mr. John Weismann, Mr. Jack White and Mr. Ray Rowland.

Selective Service Forms To Be Filled

All men who are not veterans must file a 109 form with selective service. This is a report by the college that the student attended college, what work he attained, and that he is eligible to enroll next year.

Form 109 may be secured in room 108 and returned there for processing. Any man who plans to enroll next year must fill this form. Graduate students should ask for form 103.

Variety Of Events Planned For Annual Parents' Weekend

The annual Parents' Weekend, scheduled for next Saturday and Sunday, will include a variety of activities from baseball to art exhibits, according to co-chairmen, Ken Nielsen and Lori Alexander.

The weekend will begin with registration in Stewart hall lobby. Beginning at 8 a.m. an exhibit of graduate student art will be shown in the first and second floor lounges of Stewart hall. Displays and exhibits in the academic departments are open until 10:30 a.m. and again from 1-4 p.m. Saturday. Also open to visiting parents is Kieble library.

The official college welcome will be extended at a convocation in Stewart hall auditorium at 10:30 a.m.

Afternoon events start with parachute jumping demonstrations given by the St. Cloud State Parachute club at the St. Cloud airport from 12-2 p.m.

All the baseball fans can enjoy a baseball doubleheader between St. Cloud State and Moorhead at the Municipal stadium. The game is scheduled for 1 p.m. at the Municipal stadium. The parents may also enjoy a swim show at 2:30 p.m. by the college Syncretites. The afternoon of events will be concluded with a social time from 3-5 in Mitchell hall snack bar.

The evening of events scheduled to help make the weekend enjoyable are an all college variety show from 7:30 to 8:30 in Stewart hall and a dance in Eastman hall from 9-12 sponsored by the ski club.

Parents may attend the church of their choice on Sunday. After church for the noon hour a Smorgasbord dinner is planned.

Open house at all college dormitories will be held Sunday afternoon from 1-5 p.m. The weekend activities for the parents will culminate with a concert by the Concert Choir and Concert band at 2 p.m.

Invitations have been sent to all the parents, but the co-chairmen ask students to urge their parents to come to enjoy a weekend at St. Cloud State college.

Positions Open on '62-'63 Publications

Applications are now being accepted for three positions in student publications during the 1962-'63 school year.

Positions open are editor of the College Chronicle, business manager of the Talhi.

Applications may be submitted to Mr. Ray Rowland, chairman of the Student Publications committee by 4 p.m. Friday, May 4.

Budd: $9 Million Spent In St. Cloud by College

St. Cloud State College is pumping nearly nine million dollars into the community's economy this fiscal year, President George F. Budd told a group of local businessmen at a meeting today at the Germain Hotel.

This figure will keep increasing if the college obtains the buildings and personnel it needs to accommodate a rapidly-climbing student enrollment, he pointed out.

Speaking at the request of the Chamber of Commerce State College Committee, Dr. Budd drew a detailed picture of the college's growth in recent years and its prospects for expansion until 1975.

The college's operational budget — for salaries, utilities and maintenance — will be more than three and one-half million dollars this fiscal year, he said. Students' personal expenditures in St. Cloud are estimated at two and one-half million. Some two and one-third million is being spent on building construction. Slater Food Service, which leases the cafeterias, will spend nearly half a million dollars in the community. Campus visitors will spend an estimated $100,000 for goods and services. This totals nearly nine million dollars spent in St. Cloud, all directly attributable to the college, Dr. Budd said.

The college's economic contributions to St. Cloud have been increasing steadily in recent years, the president explained. For building construction alone, the college has received more than nine million dollars from the State Legislature in the past ten years. This is about three times more than was spent for college buildings during the previous 50 years. Only a small percentage of the construction money is spent outside the community, he said, since most of the contractors and workers live in St. Cloud.

Building requests from the 1963 legislature will surpass 15 million dollars, he said, and additional requests through 1969 will raise the total to $27,655,040.

The present faculty of 210 must be doubled by 1970 and increased beyond 550 by 1975, he reported. Today's clerical staff of 50 also must be doubled and the 60 maintenance and dormitory workers must be increased to 137 by 1970, he added.

Responsible for this unprecedented surge in construction and faculty-staff growth is a mounting enrollment, which already has more than doubled since 1954. Some 4,000 full-time resident students are expected by next fall, Dr. Budd said, and that figure, by conservative estimates, will double by 1970. Projections based on population and college attendance trends point to an enrollment of more than 10,000 by 1975.

Dr. Budd illustrated his talk with large charts. Similar presentations will be made to other civic groups during the next few months.

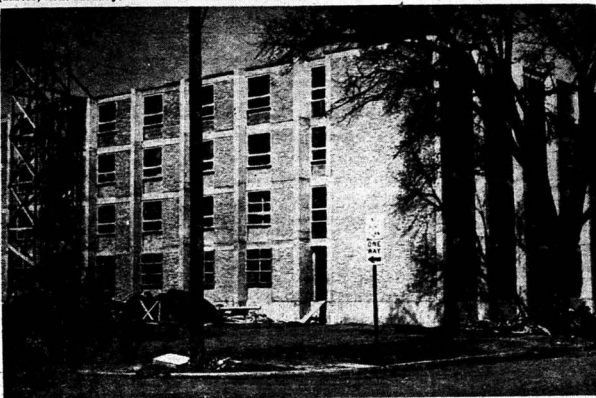

Art Show Begins Here Next Week

The first combined faculty, graduate, and student art exhibit will be displayed in the annual art show beginning next Tuesday through June 1 in the first and second floor lounges of Stewart hall.

Included in this display will be paintings, drawings, ceramics sculpture and various design projects.

Hooked rugs, tapestry, wooden bowls, masks and jewelry are the types of crafts that will be exhibited.

Of special interest in the art show will be a fiber glass chair constructed by Roland Fischer, a graduate student and program advisor at SCS.

The girls on campus can expect to move into the 200 bed residence hall (pictured above) at the beginning of fall quarter. It is just one of the proposed eight dormitories that are planned for a four block extension of the St. Cloud State college campus.

Construction of many of the other proposed buildings hinges on Amendment Number 2 which, if passed, raise the state debt limit. Without this change the college will find it virtually impossible to continue its building program.

Is Boxing Debasing All Other Sports?

The recent death of boxer Benny (Kid) Paret has stirred a great deal of comment from sports writers and fans alike. Newspaper editorial comments are now terming boxing as "legalized slaughter," and "a pseudo-sport that is nothing more than organized primitivism." Other, more intellectual orators believe boxing to be an example of decadence proving that our society has not progressed from the barbaric Roman Empire.

Comments such as these pose an interesting question. Why is it that the "Monday morning quarterbacks," and "Sunday referees" are up in arms after years of acquiescence because of a tragedy?

There are very few sports in which the players are not subject to injury and where their lives are not at stake. Broken arms, legs, and ankles in skiing are so commonplace that participants and the public alike take them for granted. It is possible for a pole vaulter to break his neck, a swimmer to drown, a jockey to be trampled, a football player to be maimed, and a track man to have a collapsed lung. The list could go on indefinitely but the point is that every sport has its dangerous aspects.

If boxing were banned, how many other sports would fall under the category of "legalized slaughter"? Should sports be completely eliminated from the American culture or should there be tighter rules and more emphasis placed on sportsmanship?

It would be infinitely better to put more emphasis on sportsmanship and enforce tighter rules, for if this country wishes to continue to be mentally and physically fit it is going to have to stop calling "foul" after every unfortunate incident.

Those who call sports lethal fail to realize that a person puts his life in jeopardy when he gets out of bed in the morning, steps into the bathtub, walks down a flight of stairs, and when mowing the lawn, not to mention driving a car on the highway. In 1959, 37,910 people were killed in automobile accidents. There is one death every 19 minutes resulting from home accidents and one death every 38 minutes resulting from industrial.

The present state of boxing is consistent with the American habit of debasing an institution to such an extent it can do nothing but improve. As long as people pay their way into fights or watch them on television, the brutality and needless fatalities, to say nothing of underworld influences will continue. Until people practice what they preach should they be concerned with the lives of others. Sports are a necessary and important facet of a well-balanced, strong society. While some sports may be debasing, most people are able to imagine.

Thing in Jar Acts As Bomb Reminder

The thing in the large jar stares at you. It's alive and it seems to have feelings. Its arms and legs, for that is what they are, are gnarled and shriveled. Its torso is twisted like a bellows. Somehow the lungs, heart, and viscera have been ripped from their places and seemingly have been grafted on to the skin.

That something in the large jar can be seen by Stanford students and has already been seen by many of them, for it is part of the current exhibit in the Main library which depicts the foolishness and results of nuclear war and atmospheric testing.

The thing in the jar is almost a Japanese baby—one of many semi-humans who never quite made it because of the atomic bombs dropped on Hiroshima and Nagasaki. In spite of the likely results of radioactivity, the U.S. is apparently ready and willing to renew atmospheric tests in the near future in order to "improve our national defense." It is so easy. Instead of really trying to come to an understanding with the Russians in regard to disarmament, this country prefers to fill the atmosphere with material which may cause the birth of more semi-humans.

We refuse to believe that negotiations with the Russians must end in stalemate. One of the main reasons for our insistence upon a foolproof inspection system. Senator Hubert Humphrey has an effective and sensible answer: "When I hear people say that we must be absolutely and positively certain that a control system is foolproof, then I ask them, 'What is foolproof about the continuation of the nuclear race?'"

We add our feeble voice to those who are now imploring our government to refrain from atmospheric testing. We believe in democracy and therefore believe that enough feeble voices shouting in unison will be heard and obeyed.

In the words of Albert Einstein: "We are still making bombs and bombs are making hate and suspicion. We are keeping secrets and secrets breed distrust. While we distrust Russia's secrecy and she distrusts ours, we walk together toward certain doom."

Letters to The Editor

Answer . . .

Under date of Friday, April 13, you had an opportunity to read an editorial on "SCS Football Record Needs Examining." The editorial, according to reliable sources, was written by one Jack Zander Co-editor of the Chronicle.

Perhaps it would be well to state facts and know some truths when "reporting" on record examining. Wm. C. Heiss did not coach football in 1951. He was only in 1950-51. His record in football for 1950 was not what one could call of championship caliber. He won 4 and lost 4. This was after the 1949 coach, Mr. Edward Colletti, handed him a near veteran team. Mr. Les Luymes, who followed Heiss, did have successful seasons in 1951 through 1955. During the 1953 season Jack Wink, the present coach, who was at St-Out-St. Cloud State, coached the only team to defeat St. Cloud State that year.

So far as size of enrollments at a college or university is concerned, in terms of success in sports, there is little connection. Evidence of this fact is born out by such institutions as Notre Dame, St. Johns University over the years to mention only two of many like institutions. In today's higher educational institutions one of the questions is, how near a "full ride" can you give the prospective participant. St. Cloud State is competing against opposition which is able to offer more in financial support than our institution is able to provide. State funds are not available for such purposes. All such funds must be provided from other sources. If the editorial writer thinks it's easy to construct a prospectus for a team to come here when we have been able to offer him only the possibilities of a job with no other financial help, he should join our recruiting service. It is always easy to tear down programs but to support a worthwhile project is something quite different.

We have no specialists in our area since all coaches must teach classes one half of their assigned time. Over the years our coaches have been successful in their share of the time. Most sports experience ups and downs over a given period of years. Such is the case of all of our competitive colleges as well as our own State University.

We have had some good players on our football teams the past several years. We're proud of the fine gentlemen who have represented us on the gridiron yet we haven't been able to meet the kind of competition we have had to play and in the winners' column as often as we would like. Ironically Mr. Wink coaches both hockey and football. In one the percentage column was not good yet he showed an undefeated season. Isn't it reasonable to suspect that "if you have the horses" one's chances for success are much better?

Why is it that coaches have to be castigated in carrying out their assignments just because they have to work through a percentage column? The public and editorial writers at times seem to have an aversion toward coaches of sports. It might be well or each to take care of his own responsibilities and know his limitations.

Student Views

... Rebuttal

Editors Note: One mistake, as it pointed out in the above letter, was made in the editorial concerning football at SCS. Les Luymes had a 7-1 record in 1951 and William Heiss set a 4-4 record in 1950. It would appear, however, that the rest of the record is correct and no argument is forthcoming over it.

A few questions are hereby raised. Does this one mistake in the editorial mean that the editorial has "disseminated false information"? I hope not. Dr. Brainerd points out that we should take care of our responsibilities. I feel that the College Chronicle's responsibilities extend over the whole college community. The Chronicle is designed for everyone including students, faculty, and administration at St. Cloud State, and its job is to keep them informed of not only the news but also of the opinions of others.

I do not feel that the athletic department has been picked up by the Chronicle. In fact, we have backed it in such things as, a broader grant-in-aid program, a need for a new gymnasium, and the need for more money. Perhaps the athletic department would like to be left alone in all respects.

I feel that I presented facts in the editorial and that these facts pointed out only one logical conclusion.

I also question the argument that has twice been raised about the "great" hockey record of Mr. Wink. Good hockey players have been coming to SCS for the past few years because they know it has a good hockey team not because it has a good coach. It seems elementary that a hockey coach, with a winning record, is still not necessarily a football coach.

It should be pointed out that figures are much better than generalizations. If the athletic department would like to point out the fallacies of the editorial it should use facts and not long, involved generalizations concerning Notre Dame, St. Joseph, the "full ride" situation, or hockey. The editorial was about football. Jack Zander

Homecoming

Dear Students:
The Homecoming Committee has a problem. Try as we will, we cannot seem to come up with a suitable slogan for Homecoming 1962. As you know, we are playing the Morehead Dragons on October 6. Will you help us out?

If you feel you have an idea that you think is good, submit your entry to either the Student Personnel Office or to either of the co-chairmen. We will be happy to consider your entry. There will be a cash prize for the winning entry so don't delay. They must be in no later than 4:00 Wednesday, May 2. Thank you for your cooperation.

Schwartz: Rainwear Goes Continental

By PERRY B. SCHWARTZ

We may have a summer after all and if that is the case, we had better bring our rainwear out of the closets.

It goes without saying that the slim, debonair continental fashions add a new dimension to men's fashions. Surprisingly enough, many of the continental styles to hit the American continent have not come to the upper midwest yet. This is because styles start on the East Coast (English, German, and French) and on the West Coast (Italian). It takes about two years for the styles to make their move inland. Some of the fashions soon to be popular in the midwest are listed below:

Ankle boots. While ankle boots are popular among continental lovers now, many of the more

"far out" styles of a shoe have not yet appeared here. Look for black, slip-on boots with a strip of elastic and lace in the new few months.

Double breasted blazers and suits. Especially interesting are the styles with the cleverly lapels, slanted pockets, double vent in back, and the rounded bottom. Knee-length rainwear. Double breasted, of course, the knee-length and above come in a wide variety of colors, in waterproof fabrics of topin and raglin.

Slacks. The true continental slack is bellows, tapered, and at least ankle-length. It is amazing how many people "discover" a style of clothing and then proceed to abuse its principles. Continental slacks worn above the ankle look like a joke to say the least to the true continental connoisseur.

Graduates Asked to Send In Names for Directory

An Alumni Directory, which it is hoped will contain the names and present addresses of all graduates of St. Cloud State college, St. Cloud State Teachers college and St. Cloud State Normal school, is in the process of preparation under the sponsorship of the St. Cloud State college Alumni association. Mrs. Vernon Mork has been employed to supervise the project, which is the first alumni directory of the college to be compiled since 1940.

Mrs. Mork pointed out that such a directory cannot be accurate without the cooperation of hundreds of people. All graduates of the college, regardless of the year of graduation, are urged to contact Mrs. Mork, St. Cloud State college alumni association, St. Cloud State college, giving the present address, full name, occupation, year of graduation, and any other information they consider pertinent about themselves and any other alumni with whom they are acquainted.

Indian Villages To Be Visited During 'Project Awareness'

By JANET CHILSTROM

Project Awareness, a summer program sponsored by the Minnesota-Dakotas region of the National Student association, will give five groups of five students each an opportunity to spend six weeks in a Minnesota Indian village. The program will run from June 18-August 5. The participating students will work with the Chippewa Tribal council and with local committees in organizing and directing a community-wide recreation program in each village.

Students selected from campuses across the state, will meet for a week-long orientation program on the campus of the University of Minnesota previous to their six weeks in the village. This orientation will attempt to give the students a broad preparation for the program. Recreational leaders will demonstrate techniques, discussions and observations will take place, and experienced leaders and Indian students will speak to the group.

Debaters Return From Forensics Tournament

Four St. Cloud State college debaters returned Saturday from the national Tau Kappa Alpha forensics tournament at Terre Haute, Indiana. Roger Klaphake, Winston Borden, Marie Johnson, and Linda Gasperlin represented the college in debate and public speaking contests which brought together over three hundred students from forty-two campuses.

While attending the tournament, the students attended a banquet at which the Speaker of the Year award was given to Mr. Newton Minnow, chairman of the FCC. This annual award is given by the national speech fraternity, Tau Kappa Alpha, in recognition of outstanding and responsible speaking on the national scene. It was felt that Mr. Minnow's speech calling upon the television networks to upgrade their programs from what he called "the vast wasteland," was a prime example of responsible, intelligent speaking.

The major address was delivered by Dr. Waldo Braden, head of the department of speech at Louisiana State university. In his speech Dr. Braden called for more intelligent and responsible speaking in political campaigns in contrast to the heavy emphasis on carnival-like devices to arouse the interest and emotions of the voters.

Mr. Pitzer, speech advisor, said that the next trip to be taken by St. Cloud State debaters would be to the University of Minnesota on May 9. Mr. Orrin Rinke has been selected by the University to be one of the principle speakers in the legislative conference to be conducted by the "Twin City debate league."

Project Awareness is a wonderful opportunity for students to take part in a direct way in alleviating one of the most serious problems facing our state. Now only will the participants gain a rich and rewarding experience, but they will gain a deep understanding of the condition of the Indian people of Minnesota. And the real satisfaction comes in fulfilling a very important function in providing opportunities for constructive activities for Indian young people.

Students interested in the NSA Project Awareness program can pick up application blanks and further information in the student personnel office.

Two SCS Faculty Members to Resign

Two faculty members at St. Cloud State college have submitted their resignations to accept positions in Illinois and Colorado.

Dr. Donald Dedmon has been named associate professor of speech at Southern Illinois university, effective next September. At St. Cloud since 1959, Dr. Dedmon has been director of forensics and co-editor of a new basic course in speech required of all students. He also has been chairman of the Faculty Council and was recently elected to the Faculty Senate.

Dr. David Jelden, at St. Cloud since 1960, will become assistant professor of industrial arts at Colorado State college, Greeley, effective June 11. Dr. Jelden will be on the graduate faculty, conducting research and advising students enrolled in the college's doctoral program in industrial arts.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ Librarians Order Books Behind Scenes

By ROGER LOHMANN

Did you ever notice a large group of people in the library who appeared as if they worked there, but never seemed to be doing anything at the time? Chances are you came in contact with one of the large group of librarians and student assistants who work behind the scenes. They are primarily concerned with ordering, classifying and straightening books and returning them to the stacks.

In order for a new book to be placed in the library, a request must be made by a faculty member, passed by the division chairman and sent to the library. If the proper funds are available, the book is cleared for ordering. Then one of the librarians must check the bibliography of the book to determine its Library of Congress number, publisher and other vital data, while a typist makes out the multiple order forms required. If available, printed cards for the card catalogue are ordered. Otherwise material must be collected and cards typed out.

When the book arrives, the cataloging process continues until it is given a Dewey Decimal system number. When the cataloging is completed, a typist puts the number on a card. Then a pocket and the book are sent to the basement workroom. Here the Dewey Decimal number is stenciled on the book and the pocket pasted in. The card is turned over to student assistants who file it in the card catalogue. The books are then loaded on trucks and taken to the stacks to be shelved along with returned books. Most of this work is done early in the morning or after hours at night.

According to Dr. Luther Brown, director of Institutional Resources, another major source of personnel time is involved in handling of overdue books. Dr. Brown states that "We're in business to keep books circulating, but it is often necessary for us to spend as much as six hours a day on fines and overdue books." This process and wasted time would not be necessary if students were willing to co-operate!

For each overdue book, the librarians must check through the files, locate the card and send a notice. If the book is returned, they are finished, but if not, they must repeat the notice and send notices to the Office of the Dean and several other measures.

MR. MAYNARD BJORG AND STUDENT ASSISTANT check out reserve periodicals for students. The periodicals have been relocated in the main floor of the library along with the recreational reading area and an increased number of individual desks for students.

MRS. DELORES WAHLBERG CHECKS out a book for a student in the circulation area on the second floor. The desk for this area was moved back so that only students entering the stacks must go through the turnstile and others will not be inconvenienced.

MISS MAVINA AXEEN examines the shelves in the reference room to see that books are in order. The newly located reference areas are on the main floor.

MR. NORM DILLE and MR. GEORGE ERICKSON, working in the audio visual center located in the basement of the library building. The Audio Divisional Visual Center and the Campus Lab School library, in addition to the main library are controlled by the Director of Institutional Resources Dr. Luther Brown.

STUDENT ASSISTANT, CONNIE WENZEL gets a reserve book for an unidentified student. The reserve section has been moved to the lower floor and it now shares joint facilities with the curriculum library and the Children's and High School literature collection.

THE "BIG THREE" when it comes to cataloging new books in our library are Mr. Harold Oppgrand, Miss Ruth Moshier and Mr. Ronald Haselnuhn. Each of them handles cataloging and ordering books for a certain part of the Dewey Decimal system.

SC State To Face Winona State Saturday; Open NSCC Play Against Defending Champs

The Huskie's baseball team, 4-1 winners over arch-rival St. John's Tuesday, faces defending NSCC champion Winona in a doubleheader at Municipal Stadium Saturday.

Warrior coach Luther McGown has 13 lettermen on which to make his bid, including three pitchers and a host of power hitting infielders.

Chuck Weisbrod, Dick Papenfuss and Jon Kosidowski will share the mound chores with other lettermen being catcher Dick Gunderson, outfielders Lance Johnson, Larry Joyo, Roger Risser and Chuck Zane and infielders Rolf Ekker, Gary Grob, Alran Klinder, Bob Lietzau, and Lyle Papenfuss.

Against State College of Iowa last week, the Warriors clouted five homeruns and won 7-2.

For the Huskies, who have won four in a row since dropping their first three starts, sophomore Denny Backes and senior Larry Vergin are expected to get the starting calls from coach John Kasper.

Huskie first baseman Tom Pryor scoops one out of the dirt as a Valley City runner gets back safely in a pickoff attempt. The Huskies won 5-4.

The left-handed Vergin pitched the first four innings against the Johnnies, allowing one run on one hit. He struck out three. The right-handed Backes then relieved him and blanked the losers the rest of the way. He gave up two hits and struck out eight.

Vergin has a 2-1 record and Backes is 1-1, while relievers Rog Sadowsky and Don Heuring are 0-1 and 1-0 respectively.

The W.R.A. Banquet is over, and the W.R.A. has a new set of officers and a new board. The 1962-63 officers are: Linda Waisman—President, Lavonne Fierick—Secretary, Mary Erickson—Vice Pres., Sports Chairman—Joan Hess, Louise Henshel—Treasurer, Pat Hibbard—Publicity Chrm., Sharon Wenborg—AWS Rep.

I would like first to congratulate the new officers and wish them the best of luck for the coming year. Secondly I want to commend Corrine Bubolta and the W.R.A. board on a job very well done. The program this year has been varied, interesting, and very well administered.

The banquet at the Press started on Monday at 6:30 with the chicken dinner. The program, which was very interesting, consisting of two numbers by the girls' trio, the installation of new officers, the introduction of next years sports heads, and a very enjoyable speech by Dr. Hunt. The Mistress of ceremonies was Sue Eisinger, who did a very good job. The banquet was very well attended this year with close to 60 girls and advisors in attendance, and being one of them, I can tell you that all 60 thoroughly enjoyed it.

Sue Eisinger and Sharon Wenborg are still hard at work on the high school play day to be held here on Saturday, May 5th. It is shaping up very well and should be a big success. The play day gives girls from high schools around the area a chance to participate in a variety of activities, and at the same time to see the campus. About 160 girls are expected at this year's play day.

To round things off this week, I will just remind you that the outdoors activities have started this week and very good turn outs have been reported. Now that it's nice outside here is a perfect chance for you to get out and soak up some of that sun, and at the same time some activity. So why not grab your tennis racket on Tuesday at 4 p.m.; a swimming suit on Wednesday at 4, or a bat and ball on Monday at 3, and GET ACTIVE!

Track Team Trounces Gustavus; To Meet St. John's, Mankato

By ROD DECKERT

After gaining a one-sided 89-33 duel meet victory over Gustavus last week, the Huskie track team will run into tough opposition when it meets St. John's this afternoon at Collegeville. On Saturday another strong team, Mankato, will face the Huskies in a duel meet at Selkirk field.

Against Gustavus, the Huskie cindermen captured first place in every running event and in three of the five field events to score their second victory in as many outings.

A school record was tied by John Maciejny when he threw the discus 131 feet, seven inches. This mark was previously set by Don Hartzell in 1955.

"Double winners in the running events were senior Ron Lanes from Montevideo and freshman Dave Owen from Paynesville. Lanes ran the 100-yard dash in a fine 10:2 and covered the 220 in 22.5. Owen ran the mile in 4:46 and the two mile in 19:34.6.

Lee Albrecht of Buffalo Lake and Ray Le Cuyer of Beardley teamed up to sweep the two hurdle events. Albrecht won the low and Le Cuyer won the high.

St. John's indicated its power after coming out on top of a triangular meet held in Moorhead's Alex Nemzek fieldhouse. The John Gagliardi coached Johnnies scored 77 points while second place Bemidji State had 34½ and host Moorhead State totaled only 15½.

The Johnnies captured firsts in 11 of the 12 events. Freshman Rich Froehle broke the Nemzek fieldhouse record and the St. John's school mark with an 11' 10" effort in the pole vault. The number one runner for St. John's is another freshman, Bill Cruise of Forest Lake. Cruise took first place in the half mile, mile, and two mile runs.

Keglers Win NAIA Birth

St. Cloud State's Bowling Team won the District 13 NAIA championship and will represent Minnesota in the first annual NAIA bowling tournament Friday and Saturday in Kansas City, Missouri.

Rossini rolled a 650 three-game total for one of the best for any tournament competitor. Umerski was second with a 611.

The Huskie keglers are one of 32 small colleges in the nation to earn berths in the journey. They rolled the highest three-game total of any competing team in the District, which includes the NSCC and MIAC.

The bowling will take place in the King Louie West Lanes in Overland Park, Kansas, a suburb of Kansas City. All banquets and headquarters will be in Kansas City, with the Alladin Hotel the main office.

The six man Huskie team led by Captain Marty Rossini from St. Paul, includes Myron Umerski, St. Cloud; Sam and Rich Wielinski, cousins from Little Falls; Wendell Bailey, Bertha; and Ron Johnson, Pine River.

Scheduled for completion this fall is the new industry and arts building which will be located just west of the Science-Math building. This building, with its concrete and brick with glass and granite trim, will include a graphic arts room, woodwork-eight offices, lecture hall, art studio, gallery and ing shop, two metal shops, ham radio facilities, gallery storage room, and other rooms designed for the industrial and art students. A radio tower and outside work areas are also planned.

Tomorrow Set for IFO Conference

More than 500 faculty members from Minnesota's five state colleges will convene here tomorrow and Saturday for a biennial conference of the Inter-Faculty organization.

An address at 9:45 a.m. Friday by S. V. Martorana of the U.S. office of education will open the two-day meeting.

Members of a 10:15 a.m. panel on "Higher Education Problems of Minnesota State Colleges" include President George Budd of St. Cloud State college, other administrators and a state legislator.

Miss Frances Bleick, president of the St. Cloud Faculty Association, will preside at the morning session.

Mr. James Michie, St. Cloud superintendent of schools, is joining with other school administrators, faculty and a legislator in a 1:15 p.m. symposium on "Relationship of State Colleges to Other Colleges in Minnesota."

Dr. James Harris of St. Cloud, IFPC vice-president, will preside at the afternoon session.

A 9 a.m. business meeting Saturday, with Mr. Warren Marley presiding, will conclude with an address by Mr. Joseph Kifner, advisory officer for Teachers Insurance and Annuity association. Resolutions passed by the organization will be forwarded to the State College board and to legislators.

Phi Delta Kappa To Hold Meeting

About 50 officers of Phi Delta Kappa, international professional fraternity for men in education, will attend a leadership conference here Saturday. Six chapters in the Minnesota-North Dakota region will be represented.

Purpose of the meeting is to acquaint new chapter officers with their duties and opportunities, according to Dr. Stanley Sahlstrom, regional coordinator. He is director of special services at St. Cloud State college.

Dr. Sahlstrom will welcome delegates at the 10 a.m. opening session after a coffee hour in Stewart hall faculty lounge. Dr. Gordon Swanson, professor of education at the University of Minnesota and national first vice-president of the fraternity, will be the main speaker.

Discussion sessions will be conducted at 11 a.m. and again at 1:30 p.m. Mr. Maurice Shadley, the fraternity's director of special services, will speak at a noon luncheon at the Germain hotel. Also on the program will be Dr. Charles Balcer, academic dean at the college.

W. C. Findley, assistant superintendent of schools at Des Moines, Iowa, and fraternity coordinator for Iowa, will speak at the closing session in the faculty lounge.
