

A. B. Wilson to Joseph P. Wilson
Oct. 8, 1852
Brewer, Maine

[?] Joseph

The [Bane?] of this, my friend Mr. Haid is traveling in the West looking for a place to locate in, he is a good fellow and a very information or kindness you can [send?] him will oblige me and lay me under a [singular?] obligation. Mr. Haid is a lawyer by profession and wants to settle in some growing place in the far west.

We are all well, I had a letter to day from Brother [Nenshow?] in Cal. H is well doing a fair business, says he had a letter have Uncles Otis and Lenard (Who are in another out of Cal) who say they are not doing much at this time. Do you hear from [Bashrou?]? Brother Scott is having something in the way of this building. You humble lent makes out to get a comfortable living.

Uncle [Sti?] is building him a new house, mean while Uncle Joel (who by the way is getting a long comfortably) I should be happy to have you write me our receipt of this.

And Goodbye

Yours Truly,
A.B. Wilson