

Sinclair Lewis
Thorvale Farm
Williamstown, Mass.

June 13, 1948

Dear Ginny:

I would think that interior decorating in California would be about as crowded and risky a trade as you could possibly pick out. I just hope they are paying you a lot of money and, most certainly, that you are not paying them any- not one cent.

I'm sorry to be so disobliging all around, but I am so little in touch with Dorothy that I could not give anybody a letter to her. I your friend must go to New York – of course she ought to have experience in smaller cities first – Dotty Bennett would be as good a guide for her there as could be found, and Freeman next best.

I've been here ever since last November, with just a quick trip to New York and a week's motoring on Cape Cod et circ., working hard, and happy to be here, even though we have balanced too much snow last winter by too much rain all this summer so far.

Ever
H